Woman Shot By Boy Whom She Ordered Off Her Premises On Dangerous List at Hospital

Mrs. Mary Kunuski, of Melhuen road, Dracut, is on the dangerous list at St. John's hospital suffering from severe gunshot wounds said to have been inflicted by Mitchell Kopacz, who with George Therrien, both of Dracut, was skunk hunting in that town yesterday afternoon. The two hunters, both boys of about 15 years of age, were arrested, Kopacz on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon and Therrien for alleged delinquency. The youths will be arraigned in the juvenile session of the district court Friday.

According to stories related to the police, Kopacz and Therrien were hunting on the property of Mrs. Kunuski. Both had a shotgun. The woman first ordered them off the land, the story goes, but when the youths refused to move she chased them with a stick. Kopacz, the police allege, leveled his weapon at the woman and discharged it. The buckshot entered her chest, forearms and abdomen. The boys say the shooting was accidental.

CANDIDATES FOR MAYORALTY NOW MAKING VIGOROUS FIGHT

Several Candidates Out Nightly on the Stump
---Indoor Rallies Also Numerous---Dr. Mignault Has Others Guessing---The School Board Contest

After receiving a severe setback Monday night by the unfavorable weather conditions, the candidates were out in force last night. The mayoralty contestants covered a great deal of ground and were well received everywhere, and as usual the candidates for councilor and school committee followed closely on their heels. Several indoor rallies were held at which there were many speakers.

At the Lyon street school, the popular rallying place for wards four and five, quite a flock of aspirants ascended the platform and expounded their political doctrines. The people of this district are particularly favorable around election time, possibly because the school affords an opportunity for the candidates to draw out after the street corner sessions.

There were two rallies in Centralville. At Old Fellows' hall in Bridge street a rally was held in the interest of one of the mayoralty candidates, who addressed the crowd assembled, and was followed by one of the ward candidates and a woman candidate for school committee. The mayoralty candidate went from Old Fellows' hall to the quarters of the Crescent Hill association where he was accorded a splendid welcome from all accounts.

It is promised that tonight other sections of the city will be favored by visits from the candidates. They are traveling under a full head of steam just now, and their utterances are very diverting to the throngs who gather to hear them.

The possibility that Commissioner Dunne may take the stump for the first time in his political career is the most interesting development in the mayoralty situation this week. So accustomed have the people become to the usual quiet type of campaign waged by the commissioner in the past, that they are reluctant to accept this report as a possibility. The candidate, however, has made several addresses at indoor rallies, and his friends are urging him strongly to go out on the street corners and answer the personal attacks made upon him. Several of the other candidates, including Mr. O'Sullivan and Donovan, address several rallies daily.

Mr. Brown is devoting his attention chiefly to the factory gates where he assaults Mayor Thompson. His honor has not yet taken the stump. Dr. Mignault is the conundrum of the campaign. He scouts the idea that he is the stool pigeon for any other candidate. He is working hard for the nomination.

Since Monday's drawing many of the candidates for councilor at large have been heard to express discontent with their official positions on the ballot. They fear that the average voter will become tired of reading over the names before he reaches the latter half of the list and will make his selections in the first section. Others reason that there is little likelihood of this, since most of the voters will go to the polls with their minds made up and will not be discouraged by the task of finding their favorite candidates.

The dopesters have the ward names already selected. It would hardly be fair, however, to mention the names picked, and this would be a difficult thing to do in any event, since no two men pick the same winners.

School Committee
Strangely enough, outside of the mayoralty contest the principal interest centers in the school committee fight. The presence of seven women candidates and several strong male contestants, who have not hitherto sought any municipal office, has the voters guessing. The sentiment expressed in favor of the election of some of the women would indicate that certain of them will at least be nominated, and several of the men are mentioned as "sure winners." With more than twice as many candidates as positions, most experienced observers are unwilling to go on record as prophets in this instance.

To correct the statement that he was never before in politics, Mr. Mignault has taken the stump.

ABANDONED SHIP DISAPPEARS

Tug Searches for Schooner Abandoned When She Struck Ledge

Not Known Whether She Sank or Drifted Out to Sea
---Crew Landed

VINALHAVEN, Me., Nov. 16.—The British three masted schooner Lucy R. was abandoned late last night, when she struck on Old Horse ledge, just south of here, while bound to Boston from North Sydney, N.S., with 150 tons of salt fish.

Today she had disappeared and a tug was chartered at Rockland to search for her. Whether the schooner floated off with the rising tide and sank or drifted out to sea, was unknown. The crew of five rowed here today after spending the night on a small island, then proceeded to Rockland by steamer.

The schooner was built at Weymouth, N. S., a year ago, and registered 125 tons. She was valued at $25,000 by her owner, James F. Hood of Halifax, and fully insured. The crew began pounding as soon as she struck the ledge and began to leak. Captain Daniel Maher, fearing that she would sink, ordered the crew to take their boat. They rowed a short distance to the land, where they remained over night. When they looked for the Lucy R. this morning, she was nowhere in sight. No trace of wreckage was found.

EXPRESS BUSINESS IS GROWING HERE

Another indication that business as a whole, throughout the country, is picking up, may be gained from the fact that Charles F. Langley, agent of the American Express in Lowell, reports the express traffic is getting heavier. As a rule, the express business acts as sort of a barometer for business. If business is good, express traffic is heavy; if business is poor, traffic is light.

Mr. Langley told The Sun he had noticed a decided picking up of his business. The traffic at the present time is not so heavy but what it can

INDICTED JUDGE SERIOUSLY ILL

Grand Jury Finds Against Justice Pierce and Atty. Gen. Allen

Former Accused of Conspiracy and Latter Charged With Larceny

BOSTON, Nov. 16.—The immediate disposition of the indictment returned secretly against Justice Edwin P. Pierce of the supreme court bench by the Suffolk county grand jury yesterday was in doubt today due to his serious illness. The indictment charged him with conspiring with W. Edwin Ulmer, an attorney, to obstruct the administration of justice and to divert to Ulmer instead of to the rightful heirs, control of certain properties. Ulmer was arraigned shortly after the indictment was returned, but because of the sickness of Judge Pierce no service of the warrant was made on him.

Allen Under Arrest
Attorney General J. Weston Allen was under technical arrest today on another indictment charging larceny from a client in 1917. He was expected to appear in the superior court late in the day to plead to the indictment. He had retained as his counsel Herbert Parker, a former attorney general.

The cases involving the attorney general and Judge Pierce and Attorney Ulmer are distinct. The indictment returned against Attorney General Allen concerned his dealings as counsel with Nellie T. Beck, now the wife of Charles H. O'Brien. One count charged him with larceny of $155 from her; another with larceny of a check of that sum, payable to her and a third with larceny of $21.49, described as her property. The money is alleged to have been paid to Allen by a brother of the woman.

Justice Pierce and Attorney Ulmer are charged with conspiring to obstruct the due administration of justice and to unlawfully deprive heirs of Edmund Wood from obtaining control of the Waban Rose conservatories and the Henry Wood's Sons Co., the latter a paint manufacturing concern in Wellesley. Both concerns are now in receivership after extended litigation.

George L. Mayberry, retained as counsel for Judge Pierce, said he had had no formal notice of the indictment. Attorney Ulmer said he would be his own counsel in the matter. The

Automobiles Kill Aged Man In Back Central Street and Boy In High Street

Two fatalities resulting from automobile accidents happened in this city today. Both automobiles are owned by undertakers.

Frank Seales, aged 76, of Central street, and five-year-old Jesse Pucke, of High street, were the victims. Both died at the St. John's hospital shortly after being taken there.

The accident in which Seales was killed occurred at 7:30 o'clock this morning at a point near St. Anthony's church in Central street. The automobile that is said to have struck the 76-year-old man was operated by Joseph Albert, a local undertaker. Mr. Albert claims he was driving his car at a moderate rate of speed, when suddenly he saw Seales crossing the street. He claims Seales stopped and then turned back in the direction of the sidewalk from whence he came. At that point, so Mr. Albert claims, he slowed down and swung his machine to the right and Seales was struck by the rear end of the car and was thrown to the ground.

The driver of the car rushed the injured man to St. John's hospital, where he was able to give his name and state that he was employed by George A. Lovejoy, the painting contractor. He died twenty minutes later.

Very little is known of Seales. It seems, however, that at one time he lived in this city and later went to Lawrence, where he remained some time. A short time ago he returned to this city and secured employment with Mr. Lovejoy. He worked all day yesterday and it is believed he was on his way to work when the accident occurred this morning. Deceased has no known relatives and is believed to have occupied a room in Central street in the vicinity of where the accident happened.

A charge of manslaughter was hooked against Albert and he was held under bail of $2000.

High Street Accident

Driving the automobile that struck young Pucke, according to the police, was Thomas P. Dalton, of 243 D street, South Boston. The latter reported the accident to the police who arrested Dalton on a charge of manslaughter. He was hailed out at once by Robert E. Lynch, of 12 Leonard avenue, Cambridge, an undertaker, who was in the machine with Dalton. Lynch furnished the $2000 set for bail by stripping 20 $100 from a huge roll he drew from his pocket. Lynch told the police he was the owner of the automobile. Another occupant of the car was Dray H. Wilkins of Walnut street, Brookline.

At 11:55 o'clock Dalton drove into High street near East Merrimack, according to the story related to the police by the three men, when two little girls and five-year-old Pucke started to run across the street coming from behind a car. The two girls kept on running across, but the boy, at the sight of the approaching automobile, suddenly stopped as though dazzled, and after hesitating a few seconds started to run back. Dalton said he could not bring the machine to a full stop, having swung the car so as to pass in back of the youngster. The child was struck and knocked down. Dalton and the other two men picked him up and rushed him to the hospital, but he died almost immediately after arriving there.

The operator of the machine further told the police he sounded his horn and slowed down to a rate of speed of about 10 miles an hour when he saw the children crossing the street.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 16.—A bandit captured here last night at the Santa Fe station after an attempt to rob a mail car, was identified by finger prints today as Roy Gardner, who recently escaped from the federal penitentiary at McNeil's Island. According to the police, Gardner admitted his identity. He was overpowered by the mail clerk, as he held a revolver at the clerk's breast.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(By the Associated Press).—Problems of the Far East, whose solution is adjudged an integral part of the question of armaments, took the center of attention at the arms conference today while the plan for reduction of naval establishments was passing through a period of technical examination at the hands of a committee of experts.

For the first time the delegations of the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France, Italy, China, Belgium, Portugal and The Netherlands, noting as a committee of the whole on the Far Eastern questions, assembled for preliminary discussion and to lay plans for procedure.

MOTORMAN IS INJURED

Owen McQuade Got Caught Between Car and Moving Car

Crushed between a moving car and the door of the car barn on Middlesex street while trying to enter the building at 5:15 this morning, Motorman Owen McQuade, 33 years old and married, living at 14 Chambers street, had his right collar bone broken and received multiple bruises. He was taken quickly to St. John's hospital, where the bones were set. His condition was at first not stated at the hospital that he would probably recover. It is not believed that he received internal injuries although he received a bad shaking up when he was literally rolled along with the car as it swept by the doorway.

The car was one that was being taken out for the first morning run. It stopped half-way out of the house, and McQuade, anxious to get his car, stepped alongside the other car and started to enter the house. As he did so, the motorman suddenly started up, and the space between the car and door being very narrow, McQuade was caught and rolled around several times before his plight was seen.

McQuade has been employed by the road for the past 10 years and has an excellent record.

WOOD APPOINTMENTS IN PHILIPPINES CONFIRMED

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 16.—Differences between Governor General Leonard Wood and the Philippine senate were cleared up when the senate confirmed all of Wood's appointments yesterday.

The senate at a caucus last Wednesday decided to remain firm in its refusal to confirm a number of appointments. Senators charged he had not consulted them, a right they claimed under the Jones law. The senators also declared other persons in the Philippine islands were better fitted for the positions than those named by Wood.

COULD HARDLY MOVE FOR RHEUMATISM

ROCHESTER CITIZEN HAD SUFFERED FROM RHEUMATISM 20 YEARS—NOW WELL MAN

"By the help of Tanlac I have overcome a case of rheumatism that had troubled me for 20 years," was the remarkable statement made by J. A. Bush, who conducts a tailor shop at 86 Webster ave., Rochester.

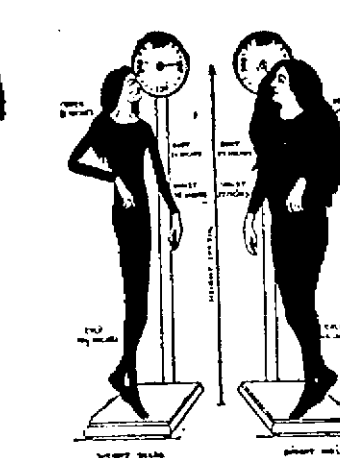

"I suffered mainly in my hips and legs, which ached and pained me so badly at times I could hardly move, and it required every effort for me to keep going. I had tried so many different treatments and medicines without results that I seemed doomed to be a sufferer the rest of my days.

"A friend persuaded me to try Tanlac and now I think it's the greatest medicine ever made. It helped me right from the start and six bottles have done what I thought was impossible. Why, I believe those aches and pains, which I carried around for 20 years, are gone for good. For I never feel a trace of them any more. Tanlac has not only cured away my rheumatism, but it has given me a good appetite, toned up my system, and helped me in every way. I am now feeling fine and have recommended Tanlac to dozens of friends, who are loud in their praise of it, too."

Tanlac and Tanlac Vegetable Pills are sold in Lowell by Green's Drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; A. D. Fells, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass.; and by the leading druggist in every town. —Adv.

17,000 Theatres to Show Free Movies to School Pupils

PAULINE FREDERICK. SHE HAS COMPLETED "THE LURE OF JADE" AND IS NOW FILMING "JUDITH OF BLUE LAKE RANCH."

BETTY COMPSON AS SHE WILL APPEAR AS THE STAR IN PENNYHYN STANLAWS' PICTORIZATION OF "THE LITTLE MINISTER."

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Children are to be given free showings of movies of an educational nature once a week in 17,000 theatres of the United States.

This was arranged at a meeting of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners' Association of America with public educational leaders and representatives of the United States department of labor.

At the same time the theatre owners arranged to show at least once a week a one-reel film of educational nature in their regular shows.

This reel is to be prepared by Charles Urban, who produces the Kinetograph, and a committee appointed by the theatre owners.

The United States bureau of economics will co-operate in this work. Thus the movie takes a definite step toward education of the masses.

A Study in Styles

Pennyhn Stanlaw's pictorialization of "The Little Minister" will offer an interesting study in changing styles. Betty Compson is seen in flounces and ruffles and a skirt that contains yards and yards of goods. This, in the period of 1830.

George Hackathorne, as Gavin, the little minister, wears skin-tight trousers and frock coat.

Men in the east wear high stocks and choker collars.

More Foreign Films

There are now in this country on exhibition, or ready for exhibition, films made in England, France, Italy, Spain, Ireland, Norway, Sweden, and Germany. The latest country to enter the American film market is Czechoslovakia.

BILL, who was the pup in Chaplin's "A Dog's Life," is the dog in Marshall Neilan's "Penrod." More than half the scenes of "The Lure of Jade," Katherine MacDonald's next, were made at night.

Nancy Deaver, newcomer in the movies, plays opposite Eugene O'Brien in "Chivalrous Charlie."

Fifteen two-reel versions of "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes," made in England are to be shown in the United States.

Well, well, well. It has just been discovered that William Farnum was born in Boston, July 4, 1876, just 100 years after the first firecracker exploded.

Mary Wilkinson, who plays the part of Nanny in "The Little Minister," has been in the movies eight or nine years yet she has never seen herself on the screen.

Rudolph Krause, 12, will play the part of a young German in "Penrod." He can speak only six words of English and is the first German employed by Marshall Neilan since the war.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

A classy, smoothly-moving vaudeville show is the one which is being presented at the B. F. Keith theatre, this present week. Every act is distinctive and the pulling music which runs through several of them is a specially good attraction.

"The Love Game," in which Harry Hayden and his excellent company appear is the top of the bill, and it is a romantic comedy with a specially good character brought out. Then there are Powers and Wallace in "Georgia on Broadway" a wonderfully pretty little comedy of life from the Southland, translated to New York's White Way. It is effective. Viola Havel and Ed-ward Dunigan are also in the front with "Revuettes" while McLallen and Carson, in a skating comedy cause shrieks of laughter from beginning to end. Other acts are: Paula and Madeline Miller, Raymond Wilbert and Bins & Grill.

THE STRAND

If you haven't seen Alice Joyce in "The Scarab Ring," which is to be shown for the last time today at the Strand, be sure and avail yourself of the opportunity.

The Strand is also offering a picture and most satisfactory as a picture story. The other feature, "All's Fair in Love," with May Collins is another commendable bill offering.

Beginning tomorrow and continuing for the remainder of the week a big triple-feature bill will be given. Pauline Frederick in "The Sting of the Lash," a wonderfully gripping melodramatic picture, Miss Dupont in "The Rage of Paris" and last but not least, Larry Semon in "The Bell Hop." You will find a look way to see such a bill as this one at the popular Strand prices.

OPERA HOUSE

Capacity audiences are marking every performance by the Lowell Play-ers of the melodrama, "Over the Hills to the Beautiful," a fine Op-eretta. Miss Ollie Minetti's character-ization of the role of the mother, is one of the best hits of acting seen in Lowell in many seasons.

The remainder of the engaging cast is also commendable. The return of the Opera House orchestra is also a pleasant feature in connection with the pro-duction. Next week George M. Cohan's musical play, "45 Minutes From Broadway" will be given. Order your tickets early.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Final performance of "Three Brand Word," starring William S. Hart, and "The House of the Dead," starring George M. Cohan.

The Merrimack Square theatre this evening, tomorrow afternoon there will be an entire change of program.

The features for Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be "The Outside Woman," a comedy of modern life, starring Wanda Hawley; "Quo Vadis," a noted George Kleine production and a Larry Semon comedy.

"The Outside Woman" is an enter-taining comedy of two apartments on adjoining floors; a fire escape extreme-ly busy with the comings and goings of characters seeking to avoid com-promising and dangerous situations.

"Quo Vadis" is a revival of the first great European picture which ever invaded America. It is the one production deserving to rank with "The Birth of a Nation" in commer-cial values. The Larry Semon comedy is entitled "The Bell Hop" and is one of the funniest ever made by this comedian. The International News completes the bill.

RIALTO THEATRE

"Man, Woman and Marriage," the faithful story of the life of woman from the medieval period and up to the present day, is beginning its third day at the Rialto theatre and prom-ises the overwhelming success that has marked its showing for the past two days. This is one of the most costly and gorgeous pictures ever shown on the Rialto green and does justice to Dorothy Phillips in the lead-ing role. On the same program is a western drama, also a comedy, "Let Us Explain," a Fors educational and the Kinograms.

OPERA HOUSE SUNDAY

Shaun O'Farrell, the well known "Irish Troubadour," the latest phenom-enal tenor to come across the seas, will make his first appearance in Low-ell next Sunday afternoon at the Opera House, bringing his company of sing-ers and dancers, including the cele-brine Sullivan, "the songbird of Erin," and John O'Nolan, the well known Wicklow piper, presenting his realis-tic sketch, "At Home in Old Ireland," and supplemented by the Rialto's ex-clusive series of motion pictures of events in Ireland, from 1916 to the present day, some of which were sup-pressed by the British government.

MAYOR THOMPSON ON LIQUOR LAW ENFORCEMENT

READ CAREFULLY—READ IMPARTIALLY

Abstract of District Court Record for Year Ending Sept. 30, 1921

Number of Defendants Brought Before Courts for Violating Liquor Law	Lowell	Lyons	Fall River	Lawrence	New Bedford
	208	188	213	209	159

NOTE: In the District Court of Lowell there were imposed in the above liquor cases fines aggregating $21,275. Of these, 135 defendants paid fines and the rest appealed.

Lowell police made 336 searches of premises for unlawfully keeping liquor and in 105 of these places actually seized liquor.

Under license laws there were 109 licensed places in Lowell. Of the 30 near-beer saloons now existing, LOWELL POLICE IN THE PAST YEAR OBTAINED 24 CONVICTIONS OF EITHER THE PROPRIETOR OR CLERK.

COMMENTS OF PUBLIC OFFICIALS CHARGED WITH LIQUOR LAW ENFORCEMENT

Judge John J. Pickman, Lowell District Court, interviewed in Lowell Sun Under Date of September 16:

"I am satisfied that the local liquor squad is bringing into court violators of the prohibition laws, who are the real menace to the community; men who manufacture liquor and by well organized means make wide distribution of it. It is my honest opinion that Sergt. Winn of the local liquor squad with his officers are rounding up some of the element really at the bottom of liquor traffic in this city and their work is highly commendable.

"The public does not realize what effective work the liquor squad of the local police department is doing, particularly because persons reading names of offenders fined in police court, believe them to be obscure persons, but, who, in reality, though they may be obscure and unknown to the general reading public, are the manufacturers of a great amount of the illicit liquor in circulation."

HARRY G. SHELLEN, FEDERAL ENFORCEMENT OFFICER, interview; Lowell Leader, October 18, 1921:

"Private stills are doing greatest harm with a few saloons contributing." Asked if it is difficult to apprehend the keeper of a saloon, Officer Sheldon said: "It is. Outlooks are posted and one has to be very well known to get in."

"Sergt. Winn is very much on the job and co-operates wholeheartedly with the Federal Officers. I want that to be made known."

HAROLD D. WILSON, CHIEF FEDERAL ENFORCEMENT OFFICER, Address Elliot Church, Lowell, October 25, 1921:

"Don't Let Anyone Tell You That There Is More Drunkenness in Lowell Today Than Before Prohibition, or That Liquor Is Running Freely Down the Streets. That is Utter Foolishness and, More Than That, AN ABSOLUTE LIE.

"Near-beer saloons are serving only to friends whom they know very well, and that is why it is so hard for federal officers and local officers to obtain convicting evidence when raids are conducted.

"There is No Law, State or Federal, Which Prohibits Near-Beer Saloons From Operating.

"The Lowell police liquor squad, with the mayor at the head of the de-parlment, has accomplished a great deal of good work in this city, but what your mayor and liquor inspectors need is more real co-operation from their fellow citizens.

"Moonshine accounts for a large percentage of intoxication and that is why enforcement officers everywhere have concentrated their efforts against the private still."

TO MY FELLOW CITIZENS:—

I Have Presented a Straightforward Analysis of the Prohibition Situation. I Ask That You Credit Me With Sincerity of Purpose in My Endeavors to Enforce the Law, DO NOT BELIEVE EVERY STORY MANUFACTURED FOR CAMPAIGN PURPOSES AND AIMED TO LESSEN MY INFLUENCE WITH YOU. No Mayor Would Be Immune From Such Attacks Having Served the Past Two Years Under Prohibition.

RIGID ENFORCEMENT OF PROHIBITION IS A BIGGER QUESTION THAN MERE CHANGING OF MAYORS IN OFFICE

SEVENTH ANNIVERSARY

Broadway Social and Athletic Club Holds Enjoyable

Banquet and Celebration

The seventh anniversary banquet of the Broadway Social and Athletic association, held last evening in the rooms of the Butler Veteran Firemen's association in Fletcher street, proved one of the most enjoyable affairs in the history of the organization.

While an entertainment and speaking program of rare excellence was given and a supper fit for the kings served, the most impressive feature of the entire evening came near the close, when, at the suggestion of Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan, the toastmaster asked all to stand in silence for one minute as a tribute to the memory of deceased members. Suddenly a scene of jollity and festivity was converted into a solemn assemblage of mourners, with all standing with heads bowed and many with unbidden tears in their eyes.

The Broadway club has attained an enviable reputation for its hospitality, generosity, loyalty and devotion, and with such a foundation remarkable progress has been made during its seven years.

The Speakers

The speakers of the evening included His Honor, Mayor Perry D. Thompson; Edward F. Saunders, chief of the fire department; James H. Walker, president of the Butler Vets; Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan and John J. Donovan, both members; Michael Quinn of the Courier-Citizen and William H. Sullivan of The Sun. The speakers all took occasion to congratulate the members for their remarkable prosperity, for their many humanitarian acts, for their loyalty and devotion to one another and for the important work they had accomplished not only for those in the immediate vicinity of the rooms, but in many sections of the city.

The festivities last evening opened at 8.30 when all first assembled around the festive board to enjoy an appetizing turkey supper served by Caterer Linton. Daniel J. Conkley, chairman of the banquet committee, then called to order and extended a cordial welcome to all. He thanked the members of his committee, the guests and all others for their assistance in the affair. He then turned the gavel over to Toastmaster James Clinton. Mr. Clinton spoke of the remarkable growth of the organization, comparing its advancement to the oak in the forest, which grew from a small acorn. He said that the reason for the progress was due to the faculty of all to pull together and he urged a continuance of this policy.

Al Forrest was then called upon for piano selections and he rendered at the piano, to excellent play the accompaniments for most of the singers. Walter Pouliot also played several fine pieces and accompanied some of the soloists.

Financial Report

William A. Walsh, president of the club, then presented the financial report, prepared by the treasurer. It showed that since the formation of the club, seven years ago, the total receipts, exclusive of the special funds raised for the Christmas tree funds, etc., were $10,114.73. The total expenses have been $5,138.55. The club has $499 invested in Liberty bonds, and with $380.93 in cash on hand, the club's financial assets are $1,350.88. Mr. Walsh then thanked the members for re-electing him for a third term, for their co-operation and assistance during his administration, and also paid a glowing tribute to the officers who preceded the present board. He told of plans for the coming Christmas entertainment, saying the members planned to make it the best ever. A dance to raise funds for the tree exercises will be held next month.

James Delgan then favored with several songs, after which James H. Walker spoke. He talked in a rambling, incoherent, telling of the many happy moments he had spent within the walls of the headquarters. He said he had been president of the Butler Vets for 25 years and had served in various other capacities. He told of the great record made by the club, in sending a stream 260 feet, 7 inches and a half, a record for many years, until broken by the Hancock's of Brooklyn. In conclusion he presented a large picture of himself, which had been given to him ten years ago, to the Broadway club. Frank McCarthy followed with a brace of fine vocal selections.

Chief Edward F. Saunders of the fire department spoke briefly, expressing his pleasure at being present and thanking the club for honoring him with the invitation. Michael Quinn of the Courier-Citizen then spoke along congratulatory lines, complimenting the members for the wonderful work they had accomplished in relieving distress in the neighborhood. Edward Donohoe sang several pleasing numbers.

Mayor Thompson

Mayor Perry D. Thompson was then called upon, and he said that he was going to ask to be excused from a lengthy speech as he preferred to

Denies Rumors of Impending Revolution

DETROIT, Nov. 16.—Belief that there is no foundation for rumors of an impending revolution in India was expressed by Bishop H. Lester Smith, of India, one of the speakers at today's session of the National conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. Lack of friendship between the Mohammedans and Hindus would tend to prevent such a movement, he said. Bishop Smith declared English control of India must be continued "if anarchy is to be averted."

Nurse Wins Prize For Perfect Feet

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—A pair of perfect feet, dainty, pink, exquisitely arched insteps and comfortable in 4½ B, has been discovered in New York and is on exhibition at the health show. The flawless pedis are owned by Miss Elizabeth Doyle, a nurse. She will be given the prize to be awarded next Saturday at the foot clinic booth of the exposition. Miss Doyle had on high heels, pointed toes and thin soles when the award was made.

Superdreadnaught Maryland Disabled

BOSTON, Nov. 16.—The superdreadnaught Maryland, which broke all speed records of her class in a run at 22½ knots over the Rockland, Me., trial course Monday, put in here today disabled. She had developed engine trouble during the continued tests after leaving Rockland. It was understood that one of her engines was entirely out of commission. Notwithstanding the accident, members of the trial board said the tests both of guns and of engines in the run down the coast, were most successful. The Maryland's big 16-inch guns were said to have operated perfectly. While the superdreadnaught took on fuel oil in the outer harbor efforts were made to repair the disabled engine with a view to having the Maryland continue her gun and cruising trials for two or three days more.

spend the evening visiting with the members. He praised the members for the happiness and joy they had brought to those in the section at Christmas time. He paid a tribute to the officers of the organization and the various committees he has come in contact with during his stay at city hall, saying that the Broadways were always welcome visitors. He said that one of the principal reasons for the prosperity of the club was the fact that the people stand back of such a worthy organization, an organization which works at all times with an unselfish motive.

Patric Maguire followed in songs. John J. Donovan spoke briefly, saying that as a charter member of the organization he always enjoyed attending any and all affairs conducted at the rooms. George "Babe" Rogers then entertained in his own inimitable manner. Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan was then presented. He expressed his pleasure at being present to add his word of commendation, particularly for the work the organization has done in alleviating the sufferings of many worthy families. He said the club represents the best thought and spirit of this community, and the work it has accomplished, was not done in charity, but because of the fact that the Broadways consider those in the vicinity as one big family. He congratulated the members for the manner in which they support their officers in any and all undertakings, and in conclusion paid a tribute to those responsible in a measure for laying the foundation upon which the organization was built, who have since gone to their reward, and he asked the privilege of suggesting to the chairman that the memory of these men, be honored with a silent tribute from those assembled.

Dennis A. Murphy and William H. Sullivan were the concluding speakers, and they added their words of commendation for the achievements attained by the club. The members then paid tribute to their deceased members, after which the affair closed with all singing the "Star Spangled Banner."

The committee in charge was as follows: Daniel A. Oakley, chairman; Cornelius Riley, John Mullin, John McFale and John Miskell.

DAWSON CITY, Y. T., Nov. 16.—The political campaign for the Yukon's lone seat in the Canadian parliament, is being run with dog sleds over the trackless white wastes of the frozen north.

Captain George Black, the government candidate, who hit the trail first, was last reported nine days ago at the little mining town of Mayo, which he reached by an 80 mile mush from Minto on the Yukon river.

F. T. Congdon, the liberal candidate, now on his way from British Columbia, will soon take the trail behind a special dog team at Whitehorse. Both candidates expect to cover hundreds of miles by sleds before the election, December 6.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 16.—Resolution urging legislation which would prohibit the sale of cigarettes to women and calling for a better standard of dress were adopted yesterday by the National Council of Women. Other resolutions passed condemned lynching and mob rule and endorsed the Rogers bill, now before congress, which provides that American women marrying foreigners shall have the right to decide whether their American citizenship shall be retained.

Fur Coat Farm Is Booming—Each "Employee" Guarded, For He's Worth a Thousand or So—Some High Priced "Farm Hands"

SOME OF THE PENS ON THE CANADA WEST SILVER FOX RANCH, AND THEIR OCCUPANTS. THE SILVER FOX LATTER BELOW IS VALUED AT $20,000.

BY N. E. A. SERVICE

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16.—Listen girls! Five hundred potential fur coats are walking around up here.

They're silver black foxes, being reared for their fur on the Canada West Silver Black Fox ranch near here.

And here's a tip: The ranch proprietors say their fox farming has been so successful that before long fox fur will be so cheap that everybody will have fur coats!

Meanwhile, here's how the ranchers treat the fur coats while they're still alive!

Every fox family has two houses to live in, besides the house shortage.

That's because they like to move often. The two houses are set in an individual pen, 25 by 40 feet.

And cats! Their menu is changed every day. For breakfast they have shredded wheat or oatmeal or rice with cream. For dinner pigeons or chicken or eggs.

And if they hanker for their old wild life, the keepers give them a bit of raw meat with warm blood on it. Or a little meat with the hide on to keep them from biting off the tips of their tails, as they do sometimes.

And every fox has an individual set of dishes and drinking utensils. They're washed after every meal or the fox refuses to eat from them.

The same men are sent around to feed the foxes every day, because they're afraid of strangers. Visitors are rarely admitted.

A lot of fuss to make over a bunch of foxes, isn't it? But there isn't a fox on the farm who couldn't skin himself to the tune of $1000 or more. Sometimes a single animal sells for $20,000.

Right, here, girls, let the ranch proprietors tell you how to guard against being hunkered in buying silver black fox furs. They say:

"The silver in the fur isn't white hairs. All the hairs are black at the tip, then a band of silver, then black to the roots. This silver band makes imitation impossible."

MILESTONES ON HAPPINESS ROAD

Sense of humor, imagination, honesty and simplicity are the principal milestones on "The Road to Happiness," Melville C. Freeman told an audience in Centralville M. E. church last evening. It was the second lecture in the community course now being given at that church.

In discussing the role played by imagination in securing happiness, Mr. Freeman laid stress upon the necessity of looking beyond the surface in relations with our fellow-men. Honesty is also indispensable, he declared, honesty with ourselves, with our business associates and with our friends. Sense of humor is much more important, the speaker explained, than is commonly believed.

"We should not take ourselves too seriously. Many a person has gotten lost out of life because of the adoption of a serious men with its consequent loss of perspective. Simplicity is indispensable. To attain true happiness we must as individuals be simple in speech, amusements and clothing. As a nation we should be simple in our relations with other people, adhering to the old but trustworthy virtues."

CAME FROM ASIA MINOR

Sun Reporter Talks With
Real Greek Philosopher in
Centralville

From Asia Minor to Centralville! Introducing a Greek philosopher and deeply religious man with no crank attachments.

A Lowell business man whose motto is "Patience" and who hangs that motto on the wall of his store that all who enter may read.

On the eighteenth day of last September a man born in Asia Minor with the blood of the race of Socrates and Epaminondas in his veins, sat down behind the counter of a little confectionery and magazine shop on Bridge street, Centralville, and slowly wrote on a sheet of white foolscap the following:

"Advocate the Power of Patience."

"Be patient in small as well as in large matters. Be patient with people whose ideas and opinions differ from yours. Be patient when things do not terminate precisely as you wish. Be patient toward those with whom you are in familiar daily contact. Be patient at all times and under all circumstances. Patience manifests itself in a uniform evenness of temper. It enables you to listen attentively and receptively to others, even though they interrupt and contradict you."

"Patience combines self-control with generosity, so that it bears easily with the defects, infirmities and injustices of others. Patience is an essential characteristic of all great and enduring accomplishment."

"Patience is a power as well as a virtue!"

Sun readers are invited to pass their opinion upon this Lowell business man, who lives the life of a Greek philosopher and who takes upon the deepest of subjects relating to democracy, world freedom and the ways of humanity without the slightest feeling of rancor or disdain—who never derides those who do not agree with him—who always lives up to his belief—the doctrine of patience and friendliness to fellowmen.

A crank, you say? Another one of those crank worms who want to settle all the wrongs of humanity himself—the great I Am? Not at all. You misjudge this man. If you think he came to America to supervise the future welfare of mankind, he is not a crank, he does not know it all, he never expresses his opinion in public. He dislikes to even talk about his views—which are not radical nor even socialistic. Yet he speaks good English, being a long-time student of the English language before he left his ancient home in Asia Minor. And he always smiles. If you ask him what his life creed is, he will tell you, with a gesture almost of sadness as his dark eyes sparkle: "I believe in God the Father of all mankind—and I believe in being patient. That is my creed."

Politics? He admits he is a democrat—but not the sort of democrat you meet every day in a city thoroughfare during a political campaign. He means a democrat "of the great democracy." And mind you, he is not a crank about it, either!

Sometimes when you happen to stroll through Centralville, drop in, if you feel in a discursive mood, and say good-morning to Emmanuel H. Canary at his store in Bridge street. You need not buy anything. He does not ask you to select any of his wares. He simply waits to see what you want and listens attentively to what you say. And he always meets customers with a smile—the smile of a patient man, which befits the motto on the wall and the little "epic" that hangs on that wall and which is quoted at the beginning of this story.

Canary, the man with the name of a housewife's pet but who looks like a descendant of Dante, with his dark features and his flashing eyes, is one of the most modest men you ever met. And a little questioning brings out the fact that he is not only a thorough student of American democracy, but a deeply religious man. He has been a member of the John Street Methodist church for ten years. He used to lead the prayer meetings at that church on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, although his business duties now prevent him from being present at the weekly meetings as of yore.

His first sight of Lowell sent the blood surging through his veins. That was 14 years ago. It is a far cry from Magnesia in Asia Minor to a bench in the history department of the Lawrence Manufacturing Co., but Canary was enjoying the first fruits of freedom and democracy. It was at his bench in the Lawrence mills that he learned to be patient. And patience has been his motto ever since.

His education in Asia Minor was well attended to. He also went for nearly two years to that splendid missionary university supported there by American and English funds. He has studied political economy until he knows it "like a book." You cannot ask him a question relating to American, French, German, English or even Jewish history that he cannot answer. He is a wonderful conversationalist, and yet he doesn't talk much. It is difficult for even a newspaperman to get him to "open up," yet he furnishes freely the information you seek, using only the smallest number of words.

Back of the counter in his shop repose books—books of every description, but not so many as some libraries hold, of course. And now, friend reader, what book do you suppose lies right there on the glass counter every day, 365 days in the year, where customers and others can see and read it—and wonder at it, too?

Emerson's "Essays."

It is the greatest book of philosophy in the world, according to Emmanuel Canary's way of thinking. It is a tiny affair of some 244 pages. It was printed in 1844 by the Atlantic Monthly Co. in Philadelphia, publishers of the classics. The cover is of blue, with silver stripes and spirals. Look within the first cover and read the inscription:

"April 14, 1914."

That was the day that Canary reached his highest ambition. He was the owner of a copy of Ralph Waldo Emerson's great discursive work covering politics, nature, manners, character, experience and realism. Next to the book of God, Emerson's "Essays" is his favorite book.

Shakespeare comes next in Canary's library. Wisdom of manifold value to all mankind, is the way Canary puts it. Socrates? Oh, yes! But the thinkers of the world are not confined to the Greek philosophers, this Lowell man tells you, wisely.

"My faith is simple," he said last night, as he gave a street urchin two sticks of candy and patted him on the head. The boy got double the value for his penny.

"Be patient to all men. I know what the heart of humanity is like. I am not egotistical. I am not vain-glorious. But I know that the average man, if he be patient in all things and lives a serene, untroubled life with patience, always in his eyes and his heart, will be good, will live a good life and be a man."

"The philosophy of the Bridge street merchant who comes from the far off seat of the world's greatest thinkers and philosophers, is well worth listening to."

Will take part in WIRELESS TESTS

Lowell amateur wireless fans, some of whom have apparatus equipped for the receiving of messages from as far away as Norway and Berlin, will take part in the wireless tests for amateurs next month. Word came today from New York that Paul Godley, wireless inventor, has called for England on the Aquitania to represent the United States in the trans-Atlantic wireless experiments. He carried with him one of the most powerful receiving sets ever designed.

The tests are to be conducted under the auspices of the American Radio Relay League—an amateur organization that has loyal members in Lowell and vicinity.

It is estimated that between 15,000 and 20,000 American wireless stations will take part. More than 3000 British amateurs and many in France and Holland will also "listen in" for the test messages from the United States.

Charged With Receiving Stolen Bonds

BOSTON, Nov. 16.—Charles Solomon of his city was arrested today and turned over to federal authorities charged with receiving and secreting $10,000 in Liberty bonds, alleged to be part of the loot obtained by bandits who held up a mail truck in Los Angeles, last March. Some of the securities were believed to be hidden in safe deposit vaults in this city and the federal authorities obtained a warrant authorizing a search for them. Bert R. Chapman of this city, who was arrested in New York yesterday as he was about to sail for Europe, is charged with disposing of some of the stolen securities.

Ninth Day of Trial of "Bluebeard"

VERSAILLES, Nov. 16.—(By the Associated Press)—The disappearance of Madame Benoist, the most prosperous of the 11 alleged victims of Henri Landru, the reputed "Bluebeard of Gambais" was taken up at the opening of the ninth day of his trial for murder in the Assizes court here. Mme. Benoist's fortune, according to charges of the prosecution, amounted to about 18,000 francs. At the opening of today's session, Judge Gihert rebuked the levity which he said the French public had assumed toward the trial, and threatened to expel all spectators and hold closed sessions if they continue their attitude.

LOWELL CASES IN THE THIRD DAY OF TRIAL OF SUPERIOR COURT

The cases against Thomas Wolanin, Frank Urbanek and John Barzdek, all of this city, charged with removing mortgaged property, will be tried next Monday in the superior criminal court at Cambridge. The trial was brought before the higher tribunal on an appeal from the local district court. The trio is charged with having unlawfully removed from dry goods store they purchased on Lakeview avenue early last summer two truck loads of wearing apparel, all property that had been mortgaged by the former owner of the store. Shortly after one of the loads was located in Lawrence. The rest of the goods was not found until several weeks ago when the District police raided a house in that town and discovered the property completely hidden in partitions of the dwelling. Two other appealed cases that are to be disposed of in the Cambridge court on that day are those against David Stahl, assault and battery, and against Antonio Gonsalves, charged with illegally keeping liquor.

GAME SHIPMENTS MUST BE LABELED

The United States department of agriculture calls attention today to new federal laws which require that all packages in which wild ducks, geese and other migratory game birds are transported must have the name of the shipper and of the consignee and an accurate statement of the numbers and kinds of birds contained therein clearly and conspicuously marked on the outside thereof. Sportsmen shipping game birds without proper markings are liable to prosecution in the federal courts and the birds to seizure and condemnation.

Ex-Emperor Nears Place of Exile

GIBRALTAR, Nov. 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary and former Empress Zita are nearing their place of exile on the island of Madeira. The British cruiser Cardiff, with the former royal pair on board, arrived here today, en route to Funchal, Madeira, in the Atlantic, off the northwestern coast of Africa, a comparatively short sail from this port.

Carload of Whiskey Billed as Fish, Seized

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 16.—A solid carload of Scotch and rye whiskey billed from Miami to Kansas City, as "fish" was seized by Sheriff R. E. Merritt and federal prohibition agents today in the railroad yards.

Tells of Torturing and Eating of Marines

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The torturing and eating of Private Lawrence, and the killing and mutilation of Lieut. Muth of the Marine Corps by bandits of Haiti, were described before the special senate investigating committee today by P. M. Pilkington of New York, technical expert, who, as manager of an American developing company was in that country two years. He asserted the cannibals had the primitive idea that by eating human flesh they acquired the courage and fortitude of their victims, but related incidents of marines lost in the mountainous country being cared for by the bandits. The natives were generally described by the witness as amiable, docile and amenable, and the higher class as competent to conduct an independent government.

TIED TO CHAIR BY RHEUMATISM WINTHROP WOMAN NOW WALKS

Tells Weldona Man of Remarkable Recovery
After Years of Suffering

"I am able to walk again," was the statement made to the Weldona man by Mrs. L. M. Grundy, who lives at 294 Revere street, Winthrop, Mass. "This is remarkable," she continued. "I suffered for five years from the terrible tortures of rheumatism. My knees were sore and stiff and I was compelled to go about the house in a wheel chair. I had to be lifted in and out of the chair and if I attempted to stand I would fall. My fingers were sore and stiff and I was afraid of anyone coming near me for fear they would touch the chair and bring on a paroxysm. I was treated by physicians who did everything they could to relieve my suffering, but they failed to benefit me. I secured Weldona and had not taken it more than a month before I saw it was helping me, and by continuing the treatment I was able to get about the house without my wheel chair and do my own housework." Send to Weldona Co., 133 Boylston street, Boston, for free book, "Gems of Rheumatism." You can get Weldona from J. W. Dowd, and all reliable druggists. —Adv.

DO NOT INTEND TO SCRAP CALIFORNIA

This is one fighter Uncle Sam does not intend to scrap—the new dreadnaught California, mightiest of the Pacific fleet. A few ships of this type will be the most powerful in the U. S. navy under Secretary Hughes' bold reduction plan. The California represents an investment of $40,000,000. She mounts twelve 14-inch guns.

Norway Protests Danish Action

CHRISTIANIA, Nov. 16.—The Norwegian government has informed Denmark that it cannot recognize the extension of Danish sovereignty to the whole of Greenland, which was announced last May. Norway contends that the Danish action prejudices the rights of Norwegians to the whaling, sealing and fishing which they have until now carried on unchallenged in Greenland waters.

TAX REVISION BILL SENATE AND HOUSE CONFEREES EXPECTED TO REACH AGREEMENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Senate and house conferees who have under discussion the tax revision bill were expected to reach an agreement today on several of the more important amendments. Provisions of the excise and gift tax schedules were definitely fixed under an agreement yesterday. The house managers, after striking out the proposed four per cent manufacturers' tax on perfumes, essences, extracts, etc., accepting the excise taxes as finally approved by the senate.

The income surtax features of the bill, which are conceded by leaders to be the principal matter in controversy, probably will come to a vote in the house Thursday. It was said today.

IRISH PRISONER SHOT TO DEATH

DUBLIN, Nov. 16.—Alderman Barry, a well known Cork citizen, intended in Ballykinnor camp, was shot dead yesterday. The circumstances of his death are not clear, but it is believed the shot was fired as a lorry containing several of the interned men, including the alderman, was leaving the camp.

The sentry has been arrested and an investigation ordered.

Streets of Buenos Aires are washed and disinfected during the night.

MOVE TO END GARMENT WORKERS' STRIKE

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Efforts to end the Garment Workers' strike called here last Monday, will be made by the American Clook and Suit Manufacturers' association today. This organization, whose members employ about one-third of the 10,000 strikers, did not participate in the demand of the Manufacturers' Protective association for the piecework system and increased working hours which brought about the strike.

After a meeting last night, Charles Sussman, as spokesman for the American association, announced a conference of all parties to the strike would be called to establish working conditions in the trade that would be acceptable to the employers, the employees and consumers.

Benjamin Schlesinger, union head of the strikers, said working agreements with 40 such manufacturers were signed yesterday, and several thousand workers would return to work this morning.

4000 A DAY GROWTH IN NEW YORK TRAFFIC

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Four thousand more passengers rode in New York subway trains, trolleys and "L" trains today than were carried yesterday. Tomorrow there will be another increase of 4000. This 4000-a-day growth in traffic has been continuing for several months, according to figures prepared for submission today to the state transit commission, by its experts.

Last year the various traction lines of the city carried nearly 5,500,000,000 passengers, an increase of 500,000,000 over 1918. Yet the car miles increased less than 5 per cent in this period. The result has been more and more strap-hangers.

GEN. PERSHING KISSES BRITISH WAR MOTHER

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 16.—Gen. John J. Pershing, upon being introduced to Mrs. Amelia Emma McCudden, British war mother, at the banquet to Marshal Foch last night, complimented Mrs. McCudden upon her visit to America and then leaned forward and kissed her.

"Your visit in America will do much to create a friendly spirit between England and America," he said. The English woman sent three sons into the British army, none of whom returned.

Another incident which delighted the guests was the meeting of Marshal Foch and Gen. Pershing. "Bon jour, bon jour," Gen. Pershing exclaimed warmly as he rushed forward and grasped the hands of the generalissimo.

"Well, well," said Marshal Foch. Then the two retired to a private room to continue their conversation. Before leaving for Washington late last night, Marshal Foch called on Cardinal Dougherty.

peculiar interest in Ireland and declares that if it had been delivered by a minister of the Dail Eireann it could not have put the case more accurately. The Bulletin quotes passages from the address dealing with the rights of peoples and adds: "If Ireland has armed to defend rights which should have been recognized without war, she has done so only after years of patient trust in the justice of her demands. Concerning matters not essential to national existence we are ready to attain our rights to the needs, and even to the fears of the British people. 'The American president knows that peace cannot be attained by humbling the pride of a people. We believe with President Harding that the whole basis of peace rests on mutual understanding.'"

Greatest Event Since War
LONDON, Nov. 16 (by the Associated Press).—A despatch to the London Times from Cape Town quotes the Cape Town Times as saying that Secretary Hughes' proposal for a novel holiday marked the most remarkable event since the outbreak of the world war. "Such proof of real devotion to the highest welfare of mankind," the Cape Town newspaper is quoted as saying, "cannot fail to evoke response from the peoples of Great Britain and her dominions. Their first impulse will be to rival in generosity the action of the American president and people." The newspaper is quoted as suggesting that such rivalry might take the form of Great Britain's cancellation of her allied debts, adding: "This would be a sacrifice comparable in scale to President Harding's offer on behalf of America."

THE GAGNON "FAMILY"

Gagnon Company Employees
Give Banquet and Theatre
Party—Officers Elected

The Gagnon company, E.M.P.A. last evening celebrated the second year of its organization with a sumptuous banquet and theatre party.

The banquet was held in Grafton hall and Caterer Lydon fairly outdid himself in his efforts to serve the best.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gagnon, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Desrosiers were the guests of honor. Mr. Emile Gagnon was toastmaster. Mr. Joseph Gagnon, president of the Gagnon company, took occasion to thank his employees for their fine service and loyalty, giving them all the credit for making the store, though barely two years old, the fine success that it is.

Mr. Gagnon also congratulated the association on the fact that the membership was 100 per cent. with a substantial financial backing due to their own efforts. He also assured the association that he at all times stood ready to co-operate and help.

Addresses were also made by Louis Desrosiers, Emile Gagnon, Thomas Teague and others. A musical program was given by the Misses Rose Roussel, Marietta Brunelle, Clara Breaud and Cecile Morin.

One of the features of the evening was the prize drawing and Mr. George Robbins, Jr. was the lucky winner of a ton of coal while Miss Clara Breaud was awarded a silver pencil.

Before the theatre party at Keith's the annual election of officers was held and the following will serve for the coming year.

President, Thomas Teague, re-elected; vice president, Rose Roussel, re-elected; secretary, Clara Breaud; treasurer, George Lydon, re-elected; auditors, Joseph Gagnon, Margaret Gilligan, Emile Gagnon.

SERVIAN GYPSIES TO SPEND WINTER HERE

A party of Servian gypsies arrived in this city recently, coming over the road in automobiles from Chicago.

The party made a brief stop at Springfield and then came directly to Lowell, where they intend to spend the winter. They are divided into three families and have rented stores at the corner of Suffolk and Moody sts., in Austin street and in Middlesex street.

The women folks practice phrenology, while the men all attempt to secure work here as laborers.

The group is composed of three brothers by the name of Stevens, who are married and have children. The women and girls are attired in garbs of various colors and attract considerable attention in the street.

The women of the party speak several languages and two of them are able to converse in English, Portuguese, Italian, Polish, Russian, Spanish and Servian. Speaking about their trip from Chicago they stated that they encountered no trouble en route. They traveled in two auto trucks and a large touring car and carried along with them all the necessary camping paraphernalia. They had made up their minds to spend the winter in Springfield, but they changed their plans a few days ago and journeyed to this city over the road.

Upon reaching Lowell the men folks disposed of their trucks, but kept the touring car. This morning the groups in Suffolk and Austin streets were visited by Chief Attendance Officer William P. Thornton, who later placed four of the children at the Cabot street school and another one, a boy aged 15, whose height is five feet and nine inches, at the Green school. One of the little boys will be taken to city hall this afternoon to be vaccinated.

The group located at the corner of Suffolk and Moody streets are complaining of being annoyed by the children of the district, who congregate at their door and throw mud in their windows. Some of the youngsters yesterday afternoon broke down the door. One of the parties stated this morning that although several complaints have been filed with the police they seem unable to cope with the situation.

SLASHING NAVAL FORCES

It develops that the plan of reducing naval armaments proposed by Secretary Hughes would cut deeply into the American navy and cause a loss that the American people would hardly consider justified. In the first place, it would call for the junking of 15 capital ships now in process of construction and on which the government has expended $23 million dollars. It is estimated that the abrogation of contracts for the completion of these ships would involve a loss of 160 million dollars. In addition to this the scheme proposed, calls for the sinking of 15 of the older battleships now in commission. Thus the United States would have to reduce its fleet by 30 capital ships, leaving a total tonnage of $45,710. Great Britain on the other hand would be asked to abandon the construction of four battleships not yet begun and to scrap 15 of her old battleships, making a total of 31,575 tons. Japan would have to abandon construction of eight ships not yet begun and to scrap seven new ships already under construction and to dismantle 10 of her older battleships, making a total tonnage of 44,528. With these reductions, the capital ship tonnage of the three powers would be:

Great Britain	604,450
United States	500,650
Japan	229,700

It appears that the United States, therefore, volunteers to make a more radical cut in her navy than any of the other powers. It had not been expected that any step towards the limitation of armaments would call for the destruction of ships built at a great expense and the abandonment of construction already well under way. The cessation of work on these ships would cause a serious increase in unemployment in all the navy yards affected. If the object of curtailing armaments has been to save the expense of new construction, it is rather surprising that any steps should have been proposed that would call for the destruction of vessels on which nearly half a million dollars had been expended. To the ordinary layman this proposition seems just a little preposterous; but as it is said to be necessary in order to convince our international rivals of our sincerity of purpose in trying to prevent war, we presume that it must be necessary if the conference called by President Harding is to accomplish its purpose.

It had been supposed that the work of delimitation of armaments would be prospective rather than retroactive; but Secretary Hughes has laid down a plan that must convey something of a shock to the military powers of the world. It is remarkable, however, that the principle of the scheme is favored by Great Britain and Japan although we venture to predict that both will balk at the destruction of ships of value; but neither of them has any capital ships well advanced in construction as we have.

It cannot be that Secretary Hughes would make such a proposition without being sure of the support of congress. Our unhappy experience in reference to the League of Nations will doubtless have its effect with the conference delegation in preventing them from favoring a course that the senate will not approve.

Although it has been given out that Britain, Japan and the other powers accept the principle of the plan proposed, yet it is highly probable that before all details are settled in a manner that will be satisfactory to the other leading powers, the scheme will have but slight resemblance to the form in which it was proposed by Secretary Hughes.

TEST OF VOTER'S HONESTY

Very few, we presume, of those who will go to the polls next Tuesday to vote for one candidate for mayor, seven for councilor, and nine for the school board, will fully realize what a serious act they are called upon to perform.

In this country the sovereignty rests in the hands of the people and it is exercised in the ballot box at city, state and national elections. Here the people are sovereign and the women are admitted to the exercise of the franchise for the first time in this city for municipal officers. They will be expected to exercise the power placed in their hands in favor of the best men available.

In order to do this, they must not depend entirely upon the advice of those around them in favor of unworthy candidates. Unless the undesirable are eliminated, this same class will bob up at other elections, expecting like treatment. There is but a short time left in which to do the sifting of the candidates or the separation of the chaff from the wheat. On the list now up for the primaries there is a sufficient number of good men from whom to select at least three fairly good city councilors, and three fairly good school board members; but we seriously doubt whether the most desirable men will be chosen. The intelligence and earnestness of the electorate are to be put to a severe test at the polls on next Tuesday. If the citizens put aside the appeals of candidates and vote for men whom they know to be thoroughly qualified for the positions sought, then they will perform their full duty; but not otherwise.

We have confidence that the nominees on the ballot at the final election will make it possible for the electorate to give us a good, honest and reliable list of officers for the new city government. If not, then the voters will have to elect men whom they know are not qualified for the positions they seek. It is a question of honesty in dealing with the interests of the city. One had better try and another. Start the work right by naming the right parties for every office.

After much discussion the United States senate has adopted Senator Walsh's amendment of the tax bill imposing a tax upon gifts made to relatives. The object of this amendment is to prevent the wealthy from evading the inheritance tax by dividing their property among relatives and friends. The tax ranges from one percent on $10,000 up to 55 percent on ten million dollars. There is a question as to what effect this amendment will have upon gifts made to educational institutions such, for example, as those of Mr. Rockefeller to the Rockefeller Foundation and other educational institutions.

THE BOOTLEGGER

It is true, as Mayor Thompson has shown, that the law gives the bootlegger a loophole of escape in the fact that the police are forbidden to search the person. The same legal provision gives the saloon an advantage and makes it much more difficult to catch them violating the law than would otherwise be the case. Where the liquor is carried on the person in the saloons, the raid does not accomplish much in the line of finding evidence and the only way to catch the saloonkeepers who violate the law, is to go in and purchase the stuff and hold the liquor so procured as evidence. That is the spottier method which has never been popular here. Yet it is the only way by which the police can catch the saloonists in fact; but it is much more difficult to trap the trained bootlegger who is probably the chief offender against the prohibition law. Even the man who runs a still is an easy mark compared to the elusive bootlegger who may be regarded as a traveling barroom. If this abuse continues, the federal officers will have to adopt some method of providing up the bootleggers so that they will not be able to carry on their nefarious business with impunity. There is no doubt that much of the drunkenness that is found by the police is due to the activity of bootleggers who peddle liquor or some dangerous substitute wherever they find purchasers throughout the city.

INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS

In Cardinal O'Connell's pastoral letter, there is told the real remedy for industrial conflicts. If employer and employee co-operate in a true Christian spirit, there will be no strikes, no labor troubles and radicalism will have few supporters. If the employer foregoes excessive profits, pays fair wages and avoids harsh treatment of the workman, and if the latter on the other hand takes as much interest in his employer's business as if it were his own; and if both in addition to fulfilling all their obligations, exercise justice and charity, then industrial conflicts would be rare.

His Eminence defends the labor strike as justified in extreme cases as the last resort; but it must not be accompanied with riot or disorder. An adherence to the Christian principles of justice and charity as urged in this letter, would go far toward solving much of the industrial unrest, discontent and depression that now prevail.

THE MOLIERE MYSTERY

A famous mystery again comes to the front in France, in connection with the celebration of the 300th anniversary of the birth of Moliere, the greatest French dramatist.

Fifty years ago, an expressman with a donkey cart hauled three burlap bags, containing Moliere's personal papers, for deposit in the National Library, Paris. "The library is closed, come again tomorrow," said the porter.

The expressman drove away—and vanished. Driver, cart, donkey, bags and all. Every great French detective of the last half-century has tried to trace the lost Moliere documents, without success. Specimens in Moliere's handwriting are rare and priceless. Great fortune awaits a detective who can find the contents of those three lost bags.

Do they still exist? If so, some detective eventually will find them and become rich. Time does not obliterate clues. Murder will out.

CANADIAN LIQUOR

The smuggling of liquor across the Canadian border into the United States has become so general that it is said the federal government must adopt some extraordinary methods to put a stop to the traffic. Recently a large number of automobiles seized by the inspectors while transporting liquor across the border were offered for sale at sacrifice prices and the owners did not dare to appear among the bidders. It appears that men who live as far as 500 miles from the border have been doing a big import-export business by using the automobile to transport the goods and having various devices for getting it across the border. This traffic at the present time is giving the federal officials considerable annoyance all along the northern frontier.

WERE WE LATE?

A musician in a London music hall sings up one of his tricks and sings: "I'm a little late, like American in the war."

Petty thieves, coming from other countries, should not annoy us. Their nerves are on edge. Considering the war from the American viewpoint, whether the most desirable men will be chosen. The intelligence and earnestness of the electorate are to be put to a severe test at the polls on next Tuesday. If the citizens put aside the appeals of candidates and vote for men whom they know to be thoroughly qualified for the positions sought, then they will perform their full duty; but not otherwise.

We have confidence that the nominees on the ballot at the final election will make it possible for the electorate to give us a good, honest and reliable list of officers for the new city government. If not, then the voters will have to elect men whom they know are not qualified for the positions they seek. It is a question of honesty in dealing with the interests of the city. Her Japanese Garden

A well known hostess was entertaining a distinguished Japanese visitor to England at her country house. Without saying what lay in store for her guest, she conducted him to her "Japanese garden." He started to see a far-away look come into his tear-filled eyes as the prospect waited him back to his distant and beloved home. Instead, he looked on her garden as a gold-mined sector, and, bowing with true oriental politeness, exclaimed: "Beautiful! We have nothing like this in Japan."

Had Its Advantages

"Immediate possession" attracted Wilkins, and as it was cheap and he and his family were living in an apartment he purchased it. Unfortunately, the house was surrounded at all points of the compass. A gas company dwelt on the south, chemicals were made on the east, a saltpetre refinery on the north, and a soap factory the west.

"A trifle odoriferous," said a friend who visited him. "Well," he admitted, "Wilkins, the little fellow, sometimes. Still, there's an advantage in the arrangement. I don't need to go to the expense of a weathercock to tell which way the wind is blowing."

The Bitter Moment

"Perhaps the bitterest moments in the life of a lover of books," says a New Yorker, "is when he finds that his treasures are valued by no one but himself. I once tried to weed out my collection after I had become convinced that other people's values or their owner would have to move out of the library. This was a painful process, but at last the second-hand book dealer was lured to name his price for the unwanted weeds. 'They're no good to me,' was his disconcerting reply. 'What, none of them?' 'No, not one,' I said. 'Some of them suggested that the books had to go, the dealer might better have them for nothing. It was a bitter moment, but finally I assented. The man then remarked: 'That will be half a dollar for that lot which will be for taking them away.'"

The Dear Old Home Paper. It's a modest little weekly just devoted to the news of the country place, whose doings it painstakingly reviews. All the things of interest happening to the people whom you know. With the full details recorded. Through its local columns flow.

It is not concerned with matters of a national import. But neglects them for the items of the purely human sort. And it is given to extolling. Every kind of town affair. Till those mentioned in its pages have a quite important air.

To sing everybody's praises. It is never known to fail. Just so long as their offenses do not get them into jail. And it never lends its columns to an underhanded "knock." Though anonymously begged to. Publish what is "common talk."

It is always granting favors. To unreasonable cranks. Printing notices and without thanks. Nay: it's very much more likely. To be called up in a rage. Just because free advertising wasn't on the foremost page.

Though it's speaking well of others. It is very seldom stirred by the laudatory phrases. In its honor that are heard. And the ones that it boasts the loudest. In a sweetly flattering tone. Often take the neighbor's paper To save paying for their own.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The Man About Town's little chat with Gen. Butler Ames on his return from abroad. A short time ago, revealed the fact that good clothing can be purchased for very low prices in Germany. I have at hand today a clipping from a New York newspaper, with a cablegram from Berlin, which announces that a dress suit can be bought for something like $5 in that city, best meals for 10 cents, with car fares costing about one-third of a cent as compared to the value of American money. Possessors of American dollars in Germany are considered lucky folks. Women's gowns sell for as low as $15, and all are made of good materials. I learn that Berlin speculators are making their money now by selling stocks, which continue to rise at an unprecedented rate, and then investing their gains in foreign currency so as to be sure to have real values. The Swiss and German banks are simply raving. It is known today as the "banking kingdom" of Europe.

Lowell schoolmasks, and the children, too, will be interested in the announcement that the "American Education Week" will be observed throughout the country Dec. 4 to 10, under the auspices of the National Education Association and the American Legion. The purpose of the week is declared to be "to inform the public of the accomplishments of the public schools and to secure co-operation and support of the public in their needs and to teach and foster Americanism." Churches are invited to observe Sunday, December 4, as "American Education Sunday," and special programs are suggested for the schools.

Are the holes in the grand old American doughnut getting smaller? Some local eating places serve two doughnuts for a nickel, but they are small and the holes are large. Other places offer one doughnut for five cents, and the hole is hardly noticeable. The doughnut being about twice the size of the ordinary farm wife's cooking favorite—some of them about as large as a circumferential—has a hole about the size of a pin, but they make a mouthful anyhow, and the one-arm places get away with it.

I am told that the "stet party" of Bishop Blake assembly, Fourth District K. of C. on Thursday evening will radiate cool cheer and bustle with an exceptionally good entertainment. An old fashioned supper with

Berton Braley's Daily Poem So the Calendar Says

THERE'S gotta be SOME November in the year,
There's gotta be days that's rather dark and drear,
There's gotta be streaks of weather
That isn't altogether
What you choose, perhaps, to bring you cheer.

THERE'S gotta be days, that's full of sleet and snow,
There's gotta be days that makes your spirits low,
There's gotta be some November
To make a man remember
That it ain't always spring when roses blow.

THERE'S gotta be times that's gray and drab and glum,
There's gotta be days when things is on the bum,
There's gotta be gloomy seasons
For quite a lot of reasons,
Of which you must admit I've given some.

THERE'S gotta be some November, now and then,
So we can better appreciate it when
The weather is bright and merry
Instead of all contrary;
So here is November with us once again.

THERE'S gotta be days that's quite devoid of cheer
(At least we're certain to get 'em—and they're here);
There's no way for us to cure them
And so we must endure them,
There's gotta be some November in the year!

Peter W. Collins is an interesting conversationalist as well as a rare platform speaker. I was the good fortune to spend two half hours chatting with him last week prior to his lecture, and he regaled a few of us with interesting sidelights on his trip around the world. He said that in Marion, Ohio, he was to be presented to the public by President Harding at a big meeting there, but the president was called away. Vice-President Coolidge presided at one of his meetings, he said. While in New York he had the unique honor of being questioned in open meeting by the companion and fellow socialist of Eugene V. Debs. He said that he enjoyed the hospitality of ex-Governor James M. Cox at his beautiful "Grail's End" home in Ohio, and he found the ex-governor not only a charming host but a farseeing public man, whose opinions on the world wide questions were enlightening. One could go on for hours in the company of the noted K. of C. lecturer and come away with the fixed opinion that here was a remarkable man, a composite edition of a philosopher, a student and a scientist, all of which stamps him as a unique figure on the American platform.

A friend of mine, an ardent automobilist, has made the suggestion, (I call it quite magnanimous,) that autos and autoists ought to remain away from the scene of fires in our city, for their presence invariably hampers efficient conduct of a fire by the firemen. Lowell has a very able fire department, a hard-working and conscientious fire chief in Mr. Saunders, and it would be well if autoists would refrain from running to the fires and thus rendering work thereat not so effective. Three or four or five machines would not be bad, but where they crowd around in scores it strikes me that the suggestion that they find another place to satisfy their curiosity is a capital one.

Christian Endeavorers are planning a notable bon voyage celebration for Rev. Francis E. Clark, D.D., president of the United Society of the C. E. and also the World's C. E. union, who with Mrs. Clark, sails next Saturday for Berlin. Before Dr. Clark returns he expects to visit many of the countries of continental Europe, including the new republic of Rumania, Poland, Latvia, Poland and, it possible, Czechoslovakia and Hungary. A reception will be tendered to Dr. and Mrs. Clark by the Boston C. E. alumni fellowship Thursday evening, at the building on Mt. Vernon street in that city. The presidents of all C. E. societies and all union presidents will be guests.

Remember the "Rainy Daisies" of 25 years ago and how they were jeered for their short skirt campaign? Of course you do! Well, the Rainy Day club, whose banner shows a trig, short-skirted damsel under an umbrella in a rainstorm like that of Monday evening in Lowell and whose emblem is a daisy, celebrated its anniversary Nov. 5 with a luncheon at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York city. It was the idea of Miss Bertha Melby to protect business girls from wet skirts which the long gowns of those by-gone days made almost inevitable in wet weather. The original rainy day suit was really a conservative affair. It was of dark material, the skirt long compared to present day standards, with a port little short-tailed jacket. It didn't look like a cause of warfare, but the rainy daisies of 25 years ago really fought, bled and nearly died for the costume. The Rainy Daisies, Lowell folks will remember, were written about, preached about and actually persecuted on the streets. And now look at 'em!

Some of the Lowell Textile school boys are joke artists of the first water. They are greatly interested in the Lowell majority fight, too. The other day one of them got a batch of paper about 64 inches in size, and with a pen and purple ink, printed a score or more "ballots" with a well known majority candidate's name on the top. Each ballot bore this school-boy epic in blue type:
"Many are cold, but few are frozen."
Only the astute campus "gang" knows just what the ballot-manufacturer meant, and they are not telling.

REFUSED LODGING HOUSE LICENSE

Relieving that Mohammed Ahmed, once proprietor of the lodging house at 218 Middlesex street, is still connected with that establishment, although he told the court two weeks ago he had sold it to one Harry Bornstein, the license commission that night refused to issue a permit to Bornstein to allow him to operate the lodging house. Not until the police fully satisfy the board that Ahmed is in no way connected with the lodging house under the new proprietorship will they reconsider their action of last night, the commissioners stated. Some time ago Ahmed was convicted by Judge Enright in the district court for violating the liquor laws. Since then, and at the expiration of the period of grace he was allowed to put through the deal he appeared before the justice with Bornstein whom he said had purchased the house. The matter was dropped then and there, Ahmed receiving a fine. The court, however, instructed Sergeant Wynn to keep a watch on the lodging house and report anything that might lead him to suspect Bornstein was only a "go-between" for the former owner.

The sergeant, learning that a license had been applied for, visited the house during the week and investigated matters. It appears that what the officer saw did not satisfy him for last night he advised the license board not to issue a permit to Bornstein, stating that Ahmed was a very much more than a go-between. When Bornstein satisfies the police he is the real and only owner of the lodging house the commission will grant the permit, he was told. Routine business followed. Lodging house permits were granted to Mohammed Abraham, 42 Lee street; Alex. Konalski, 491 Middlesex street; and Mildred E. Jacobs, 94 Bridge street. Lodging house permits cancelled were those of Geo. H. Upton, 401 Middlesex street, and Matilda Willy, 47 Bridge street. Robert E. Carr, 21 Central street and Napoleon Huot, 105 Aiken street were granted common victualler licenses. Common victualler licenses cancelled were those of Leo LaChaire, 156 Aiken street and Joseph Langlois of the same address. Annie Dumas was granted a license to retail fruit and confectionery on the Lord's day at 139 E. Merrimack street. Agostino Karvian of 129 East Merrimack street had his license to retail fruit and confectionery on the Lord's day cancelled. Charles Richardson of 124 A street was granted an auctioneer's license and John A. Chalm was given permission to remove his pool parlor from 631 to 754 Graham street.

BOVINE

For all ages and conditions, a splendid food tonic.

TIRE men and women need Bovine. It is not merely a tonic, but an aid to digestion and a positive strengthening addition to daily food. "That feeling of exhaustion" is usually due to under-nourishment. Take milk, for example—you may drink it regularly without gaining strength or nourishment from it. The tissue building part of milk (casein) often passes through the system without being absorbed into the tissues. Bovine added to a glass of milk makes food which even invalids and babies digest and thrive on.

Choice Cuts
—and Others

A few weeks ago a newspaper man visited one of the wholesale markets of Swift & Company. He wanted to see a retailer buy a loin of beef and then watch the retailer sell the porterhouse and sirloin steaks from it over his counter. He thought this would make a good story.

The head of the market took the reporter into the "cooler" where he showed him a high class side of beef. With a wooden skewer he marked off the loin and said, "That would cost a retailer just 40 cents a pound, but it's only 8 per cent of the weight of the whole side.

"This piece, (and he marked off about one-fourth of the carcass) is the chuck and I'll sell it at wholesale for 7 cents a pound. Please remember, this is one of our best sides of beef. We also have beef which sells for half as much."

This wide variation in the price of various cuts from the same side of beef is caused largely by demand for the tender cuts. The others are, of course, just as wholesome.

It seems as though more people than ever are demanding choicer cuts, and their demand sets the price. If few people ask for the forequarter cut, the price of forequarters will automatically drop to a figure low enough to induce people to buy because of cheapness.

Even though certain cuts sell for relatively high prices, other cuts, due to lack of demand, sell so low that our profit from all sources over a period of five years averaged only a fraction of a cent a pound.

It is competition between consumers for the choice cuts that keeps prices for those cuts relatively high; an equalizing demand for all parts of the carcass would benefit producer, packer, retailer and consumer.

Our average wholesale selling price of all products has fallen about 40 per cent since September 1920.

WOMAN SEEKS SHARE OF VATICAN ORGAN'S VIEWS
HANNA'S ESTATE ON ARMS CONGRESS

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 16.—Miss June Avis Evans, who claims to have been engaged to the late Dan B. Hanna, millionaire Cleveland publisher, yesterday began proceedings indicating her intention to sue for a share in the estate estimated at his death to be worth $10,000,000. Mr. Hanna's will, which was filed here Monday divided the bulk of his estate between his three sons, leaving her nothing made for his daughters in his lifetime and no bequest having been made to his four divorced wives. The will executed Aug. 11, 1920, consists of four typewritten pages. There were two interlineations, both later imperfectly blotted out and marked "canceled." The executor's handwriting. One of these referred to giving his country estate "The Croft" and a large amount of personal property to his son Daniel B. Hanna. Another blotted out paragraph in the margin of the paper, which can be read through the blot says: "It being my intention to marry June Avis Evans, then several words are indistinguishable and the paragraph ends, 'should I die before such marriage takes place, I instruct my executor to provide a trust.' Then more blotting, making the rest of the paragraph illegible. Attorneys for Miss Evans yesterday obtained permission to photograph the will. They claim the instrument leaves to Miss Evans an annuity of $25,000 in addition to the country estate, 'The Croft' and a large amount of personal property. Miss Evans and Mr. Hanna were to be married as soon as the latter was legally free to do so, according to Louis C. Ferguson, one of the petitioner's attorneys. Mr. Ferguson called attention to the fact that the alleged cancellation of the bequest to Miss Evans was not witnessed and was therefore illegal, adding that every attempt would be made to secure for Miss Evans the bequest for which she is mentioned.

and I was able to say, 'but I was dreadfully puzzled about the whole affair, for such a strange thing had never happened to me before. Do you know anything about it?' Nancy told the old sea gull what Cap'n Pennywinkle had said, and explained how, volences sometimes blew up from the bottom of the sea, piling great rocks on top of each other until they reached the surface of the water. "Yes," put in Nick, "and the worst of it is that sailors don't know the new island is there because it isn't marked on their maps, and they are likely to run their boats right into it in the dark." "Well, well, well," said the sea gull thoughtfully. "What's to be done?" "We'll go back and tell the fairy policeman at once," said Nancy, confidently. "He'll fix it some way. He knows a lot about everything." Nancy was right. Cap'n Pennywinkle sent a thousand electric eels to illuminate the island that night, and in the meantime sent word to the fairy queen about the whole affair. The fairy queen had her helpers build a fine big lighthouse, which is there to this minute.

ACCIDENT CASES HEARDSession of Industrial Accident Board Considers Two Cases of Injury

Commissioner Dickinson, of the industrial accident board, conducted a hearing in the aldermanic chamber at city hall this morning on the cases of Joseph Bolton vs. the Saco-Lowell shops and Arthur Brown vs. Doherty Bros. for personal injuries.

In the first case, that of Joseph Bolton vs. the Saco-Lowell shops, the commissioner took the case under advisement and will render a finding later. Mr. Bolton was represented by Patrick J. Reynolds, Esq., and the Liberty Assurance company by Robert H. Eaton. The testimony developed that on Nov. 15, 1920, Mr. Bolton, who was employed as a wood worker in the Saco-Lowell shops, caught his sleeve on the cutter of his machine and injured his left forearm. He was operated on at the Corporation hospital and has been undergoing massage treatment since.

A medical report from his doctor was submitted to the effect that he was suffering from the injury to an extent which indicated permanent disability. The question raised was whether or not he was incapacitated for work of all kinds. He is receiving compensation according to the rate of pay he was getting at the time the accident occurred.

The case of Arthur Brown vs. Doherty Brothers, foundrymen, has to do with an injury to the man's left side incurred when he caught his hand in a chain attached to a heavy casting which was being carried by a crane. He alleges he injured his left side in trying to release himself and as a result had to undergo an operation. A recent was called before the testimony had been submitted in full. Attorney Cornelius J. O'Neill appeared for Brown and Mr. Eaton for the Liberty Assurance Co.

202 names were added to the voting lists. At the Colburn school in Lawrence street ward 4 registered 20 voters and ward 5 87, a total of 109. At the high street engine house 93 names were added in precincts 1 and 2 of ward 9. This was the final registration for the primaries.

The commissioners have held more sessions this year than ever before and have advertised them well, but still there are some who have just realized that they are not yet registered and wish to do so. The printing of the voting lists and other details which must receive the commission's attention demands a week's time, so much to their regret they are unable to satisfy any more applicants. There is still time, however, for those who voted last year and whose names have been dropped to get on the lists.

The boxes used for the ballots in the various precincts have been sent out to be repaired. At this election it will be necessary to use the large size boxes on account of the size of the ballots. Two sizes, 16 of each, are kept on hand by the commission, and must be placed in condition and properly labeled in preparation for each election.

The ballots for next Tuesday are now being printed, and the commission expected to receive the specimen ballots soon for testing. The size of the ballot will be about 13 by 20 inches, and will have four pages.

Hours for Primaries

Once more the question of changing the hours for the primaries arises. This question comes up every year, but no action has ever resulted. On this occasion Mayor Perry D. Thompson has consulted City Solicitor Regan relative to the interpretation of the primary law, which states that at a primary election the polls shall be open at noon and shall remain open for eight hours at least.

The contention in the past has been that this law means that the time for opening the polls is set at noon and they cannot be opened at an earlier hour. The mayor, however, feels that the intention is to make noon the last time at which the polls can be opened, and that an earlier opening is optional. He expects to hear from the city solicitor shortly.

Those who are familiar with polling conditions are experiencing considerable doubt as to the possibility of getting all the votes cast in the large precincts in the time allowed. The ballot at the coming primary will contain about 115 names in each ward, and it will take some time to mark the necessary crosses. Thus many who wish to vote will be delayed on account of lack of accommodations. It was learned at the election commission's office this morning that while in the last two or three years the vote has practically doubled, only four precinct houses have been enlarged; precinct 1 of ward 6, precincts 1 and 2 of ward 5 and precinct 2 of ward 9. This condition makes an extension of the voting hours very desirable.

"WHEN YOU THINK OF FOOD, THINK OF FAIRBURN'S"

WHY CAN'T YOU, TOO, BE WELL AND STRONG?

FEW of us realize how precious good health is until we begin to lose it. To be well is to enjoy life and make good times for those around us. To be constantly ailing is to miss life's pleasures and to look with envy upon our robust friends and neighbors.

Are you one of the unfortunates? Is your health slowly slipping away? It's time, then, you looked to your kidneys! Much sickness of today is traceable to kidney weakness. Its increase is alarming. That's because it's usually unseen or neglected.

But it's easy to tell if your kidneys are weak. You may have only backache; a lameness, stiffness, or sharp stabbing pains; dizzy spells, headaches, or annoying bladder irregularities.

If you have these symptoms, suspect your kidneys! Remember that delay may result in serious kidney sickness.

But why dwell on the dark picture? Rather think of the brighter side! To remedy such a weakness is to add years to your life and to regain the health and strength that enables you to enter life's daily battle with joy and enthusiasm.

If you've reason to suspect your kidneys, read the stories of these Lowell people. They tell how they have won back good health through Doan's Kidney Pills, the world's best recommended kidney remedy. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These Lowell Folks:

George A. Dickey, city fireman, 12 Hastings street, says: "I had severe pains in my back and was so sore and stiff I could hardly bend. When I caught cold, the trouble was always worse. The kidney secretions were too free in passage and annoyed the rest of the system. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they regulated the action of my kidneys, and my back became strong and well." (Statement given May 4, 1917.)

On February 17, 1919, Mrs. Dickey said: "Doan's put my kidneys in a good healthy condition. I have had no return of the trouble."

Mrs. R. Durkin, 34 Lincoln street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in my family for years. When my kidneys were out of order, I had dull backaches and felt tired out, and my kidneys didn't act right at all. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they soon relieved the backaches and other signs of kidney trouble. I have had no return of the complaint."

Oh, no! They're not doing this to tease Americans. And they're not doing it because they like their beer. They were PAID to test beers at a show in London at which a silver cup was given to the best brewer. And they didn't have to get a prescription first. No, the "beer board" needs no new members.

NEW REGULATIONS FOR WHAT'S TALKED ABOUT STATE ARMORIES AT THE COURT HOUSE

Massachusetts state armories are to be used no longer by irresponsible and unworthy organizations, or by individuals who have in the past in some cities acquired use of the buildings ostensibly for charitable purposes only to reap monetary profits and engage in an illegal way and directly contrary to the laws of the state governing the control and usage of military buildings and quarters.

The Lowell chamber of commerce received today from the adjutant-general's office, state house, a lengthy statement in which the various abuses were reviewed and plans announced for future control and use of the armories. There are numerous regulations at the present time covering the public use of national guard quarters, but these are to be amended and safe-guarded with delay.

So far as is known, there has never been any complaints received at the state house from the use of Lowell armories. In recent years, at least, outside organizations have rarely tried to secure the military barracks for private social events. Dances or other social assemblies have generally been conducted by the military organizations and not by "outside" individuals. But in some other cities of the state, the adjutant-general reports, the use of the armories has been badly abused. And rigid inspection of all future permits for the use of armory halls and banquet rooms will be made.

General Secretary Edward G. Slacy, of the Massachusetts state chamber of commerce is keeping in touch with cities where armories are located. Any arrangement made by the adjutant-general of course, will be lived up to at the Lowell armories, which have always had a good record in conducting patriotic programs for the actual benefit of the military organizations running them. No outsiders have been allowed to come in and work on any military plea without being thoroughly questioned and their management investigated.

The state authorities are opposed to the holding of any more automobile shows and industrial exhibits in the armories. The buildings have in many cases where such exhibits have been held, suffered heavy damage and floors have been weakened. Admission fees have been charged, which is directly against the state's policy for the use of armories. The construction of the armories is not adapted to their being used for displays of heavy exhibits. Floors have been injured by oil and water damaged by the driving of nails. Many persons obtaining use of the armories upon some pretext, directly annulled their plans and held the military authorities up to ridicule.

The adjutant-general says the "use of armories will be granted to all public meetings of creditable management, to betterment organizations and to nonsectarian charitable institutions and to the holding of fireworks meetings and dances for town societies in the smaller districts of the state, or for students' meetings and meetings of

BRIEF BUT IMPORTANT WIRE DESPATCHES

From time to time, the doings in Boston legal circles in the matter of disbarring Nathan A. Tufts and subsequent proceedings brought against Dist. Atty. Pollster, Atty's Corcoran, Donkey and McFadden have caused more or less interest in the household. But the action taken yesterday, when the grand jury indicted Atty. Gen. Allen on charges of larceny, came as a real bomb-shell here.

The Court House corner house fairly buzzed with the affair. Some said they were not terribly surprised in view of certain conditions in Boston, of lawyers confessed the latest action was certainly a tremendous surprise to them.

One prominent attorney said, "It's the worst thing that has happened in the history of Massachusetts courts. I don't know what the outcome will be but the charges, while they may be only technical, are pretty serious. The law must be upheld and upheld it will be, as though a thorough house cleaning were in order."

Talk then naturally drifted to the coming election in Boston and just what effect the indictment against Pollster would have on the Atty-Pollster's campaign for mayor. Opinion was pretty well split as to whether it would help or etard the impetus of his drive for the chair Andrew J. Peters now holds.

COURT HOUSE: CLIPS

Assistant Clerk Roger Hurd leads a pretty busy life from the moment he steps off the Southwester rather than the steps of the board of aldermen.

Now and then the genial Roger has time to take a puff or two out of his pipe, but as a rule he's too busy to bother with the wares of Lady Nicotine.

Court Officer Sullivan always has a smile and a hearty greeting to all who are thrown in contact with him.

Visitors to the court house are many during the week. Most of them making their first visit are awed by the sturdiness and apparent solemnity that surrounds the moving of the legal machinery. Their fears are soon dispelled upon approaching one of the attaches. They are all regular fellows.

Attorney Howard of the firm of Qua, Howard & Rogers is a pretty busy individual in this session. Hardly a day passes but what Mr. Howard is on the job in some case.

Attorney Allen Giersan, who recently tried his first case before a jury made quite a favorable impression upon the older members of the bar.

Clerk of Court Putnam never allows things to ruffle him much. He always has a pleasing remark for everyone. The other day he told the writer, "Well, I have been at this business so long I am kind of used to it. It keeps me busy making up cases and looking after them I don't have much time to listen to evidence."

Judge William A. Burns of Pittsfield, making his first appearance here, now sitting in the jury valve session, has made a great hit with the lawyers. They have been unanimous in acclaiming him a capable man and one

This session is especially fortunate in having two such men as Judge Burns and Judge Bishop on the bench for everything said of Judge Burns may well be applied to Judge Bishop.

ers went into today's committee meeting waiting on one another to speak first about the intricate questions that long have troubled diplomatic relations in the Pacific and the Orient. Of course every nation had a rather concrete ideal of the principles it meant to present, once the negotiations began but no one seemed anxious to break the ice.

The attitude of the United States is that the interest of this government is not nearly so direct in the Far Eastern situation as it was in the question of armaments. Both China and Japan appeared to prefer to wait and familiarize themselves with the atmosphere of the conference before laying down their views in detail. Great Britain also had failed to give any indication of a willingness to take the initiative, while all the other powers felt that their more or less remote relationship to the Far Eastern tangle should prompt them to remain in the background for the present.

The general prediction was that as a result the task of drafting a method of procedure would be entrusted to a smaller committee, just as details of the naval armaments program have been left temporarily to the committee of naval experts. In the case of the Far Eastern questions, however,

It was expected that all nine of the nations represented here would have membership on the committee and would unite their influence to hasten the committee work so that the Far Eastern discussions might take rank as soon as possible abreast of the more advanced negotiations on armament.

While the delegates were beginning their actual consideration of the second and big topic of the program of the conference, the naval experts committee of the five powers held its first meeting and compared impressions on details of the American reductions plan accepted yesterday in spirit and principle by all the power.

To Limit Use of Aircraft
WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(By The Associated Press)—Decision of the American delegation to the conference on limitation of armaments to exclude aircraft from proposals for reduction and future limitation of naval forces goes down to the bottom of Secretary Hughes' indicate in his statement saying merely that this ready convertibility of commercial aircraft to war purposes, made the writing of aircraft limitation impractical. Beyond that obvious fact, however, lies the desire of every nation that no impediment should be placed in the way of development of air navigation for the benefit of all mankind.

Giant strides in the air were made by all powers under war impetus. Both in gas carried craft and in ma-comes that rely on the lifting power of tilted planes things were done which were undreamed a few months before they were accomplished facts. All the economic barriers were swept aside, and dollars and cents did not matter.

But back again to days of peace,

Consider Charge of Covenant Breaking

PARIS, Nov. 16.—(By the Associated Press)—The council of the League of Nations met here this afternoon to consider the first accusation of covenant breaking since the league came into force. The case was that of Jugo-Slavia, whose troops have been charge, by the British government with invading the territory of another league member—Albania.

Firm British Note to Soviet Government

LONDON, Nov. 18.—(By the Associated Press).—The British government it was announced today has handed the soviet government at Moscow a firmly worded note denying the allegations of Foreign Minister Chicherin that the British evidence of hostile Bolshevik propaganda in Central Asia and Afghanistan was founded on forged documents, German or otherwise. The note declares that in the soviet reply of Sept. 26, no attempt was made to answer the very serious charges of Russian hostile propaganda in Persia, Afghanistan or Central Asia.

ain, and Japan under the reservations with which the plan was accepted by them in principle and in spirit, along with France and Italy at the open session yesterday, will go forward in the committee of five technical naval advisers appointed by the delegations of the big five powers in their later executive session. With Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy as chairman, and representative of the United States, others composing this committee are Admiral Beatty for Great Britain; Vice Admiral De Bon for France; Vice Admiral Aceto for Italy and Vice Admiral Kato for Japan.

Supt. Leathers, of the New England Telephone company today announced the company has fully recovered from the staggering blow dealt the service in the sleet storm of a week ago.

He said the storm of a week ago hit his company's interest as any business has known in the last 20 years. There have been many storms in the space of time mentioned and some of them have taken quite a toll financially but this last one surpasses all others.

For two solid days the company could do little but clear away the wreckage. The entire crew was called out and the work, installation of loops and trouble crews were kept to the limit. Armistice day found a setup for the men who were supposed to have a holiday. And the following Saturday afternoon, which is a half holiday for the repair men, was utilized in the emergency work.

Wires leading from the main poles to houses were completely down. Telephone poles hanging well over one hundred were snapped off and scattered about the highways. As a matter of safety this debris was cleared away first. For two days the men worked solely on this before they would even contemplate repair work.

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock a moonlight hike will start from the club room. After the return from the hike the elements will be served in the rooms. This is free to all members.

They will be responsible for the rest of the supper which will be cooked over a camp fire. It is hoped that many of the girls will turn out for this outdoor frolic.

On Sunday afternoon the club opens to a public mixer. Come along! This week Misses Frieda Kenney and Mildred Buzell, joint chairmen of the mixer, will be assisted by the hostesses. Invitations will be sent out this week for the big welcoming party to be given to the new club members on Monday night. Old members will act as hostesses.

Indications were that the first attempt to get down to cases, would be made in the meeting of the heads of delegations later in the day.

Maintenance of the open door in China was said to have been urged vigorously by Minister Sze, who also spoke strongly for abolition of trade treaties affecting China and urged that hereafter all such treaties between the powers be made public.

The question of the disposition of the province of Shantung was not brought up. Neither did Dr. Sze go into the question of granting foreign concessions in China. Both of these subjects, it was learned, were to be left for future discussions.

In his business, Mr. Langley comes in contact with all classes of people and is in a fair position to know just what is going on and how different things affect the country. It is of his opinion labor will have come down quite a bit before business is started and will adjust themselves to a pre-war basis.

Right now, the express business is expected to suffer a little from the strike called by the cloth cutters in New York. Materials will not be so plentiful and it is anticipated that, if by wholesalers to retailers. This is only an example, as all strikes have a tendency to slow up

URBAN HOMER IN DIFFICULTY

Another New Charge Against Man Wanted by the Providence Police

The Matrimonial Tangle of Mr. Homer Extends Over Two States

Urban A. Homer, central figure in a matrimonial tangle that extends over two states, arraigned in the local court several times before, appeared before Judge Thirteenth again today to answer to a new complaint of non-support filed against him by counsel for a second wife. The defendant is alleged to have married illegally. The latter complaint, for neglect of two minor children, is in addition to the original charge of non-support filed nearly two months ago under which Homer was first arraigned. On today's charge Urban was ordered to pay $15 this week and the weekly hereafter to the probation officer, and was placed on probation for six months. The more serious charge of being a fugitive from justice was continued to tomorrow at the request of the police, bail being set at $1000.

The trial was preceded by a conference between the judge and counsel for both sides, during which the court stated he would not interfere with Homer being taken to Rhode Island for trial there. The accused is wanted by the Providence police, an inspector from that city, armed with a warrant for Urban's arrest, coming to Lowell two weeks ago. The charges pending against him in this city will be disposed of first, it was stated then by the police, before he is allowed to be taken to Rhode Island.

It is alleged that Homer married a second time in Providence before a divorce from a Lowell girl had become absolute.

quate and larger than the one that exists there now. President Garvey and Secretary Charles P. Garmon were authorized to interview Postmaster Meehan and obtain his views on a postal improvement in that district. It is impossible to secure efficient mail service under existing conditions, it was generally stated.

The necessity of going to the polls next Tuesday to cast a ballot for men who are deemed capable of efficiency representing the public in office was impressed on the gathering by the chairman and several other members.

No particular candidate was mentioned. President Garvey requested each member to consider himself a committee of one and seek out his friends and neighbors and urge them to go to the polls Tuesday.

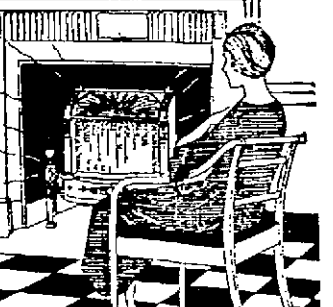

Plans for a course of lectures to be given through the winter will be made at the next meeting.

MAIL 'EM EARLY, BOYS! MILK BELOW STANDARD CHANGES IN TIME TABLE

Postmaster Meehan Advises Early Mailing of Municipal Campaign Circulars

Get your municipal circulars into the mails early!

That was Postmaster John P. Meehan's warning to local political workers this morning, and he desired The Sun to make it just as emphatic as possible.

"We would like to have the big bags of political literature on hand before Thursday night if possible," said Mr. Meehan. "Of course we don't expect to receive it all, for many campaign workers are always late and clog up the mails by their tardiness. But all the same, I think if The Sun will only emphasize the fact that the postal employees can handle this political mail much more readily and more promptly if it is posted on or before Thursday night, or Friday morning at the very latest, the deliveries will be completed in proper season to do the mailers the most good."

"We are anxious to prevent any delays and will do our best to attend to deliveries, of course, but jamming the mails with tons of political letters just as the last long sounds, is going to make it hard to secure prompt distribution."

"Thursday night is the best time to wind up the mailing, but we can handle some of it on Friday, if there isn't too much. Make it strong on Thursday and everybody will be satisfied."

Ignorance No Excuse in Milk Law Violation Cases, Says Court

"The protection of public health requires that milk be in conformity to a set standard and whether the law is violated intentionally or unintentionally means nothing in the face of justice," such was the answer of Judge Fairbank in district court today, to Homer Bergeron, arraigned for possessing milk below standard, who pleaded he did not know the milk was below requirements.

The defendant explained how he receives the milk and disposes of it, saying that the samples found not to comply with the standard were neglected in stirring. He was fined $10, which he paid. The complainants were Inspectors of Milk Melvin F. Master and John J. Conner, who said the defendant had no excuse for his violation of the law, the mere fact that the milk was there and its standard violated, was sufficient to necessitate conviction.

Street Railway Winter Schedule Goes Into Effect Tomorrow Morning

The winter time tables for the Lowell division of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company go into effect tomorrow morning, the revised schedules being issued this morning by Supt. Bowen of the local division.

Only a few changes are made in the new time tables, the all schedules being considered adequate to meet the demands of Lowell patronage. The changes in some instances are so slight as to be hardly noticeable to the average commuter. For instance, the Chelmsford and Chelmsford street cars will leave five minutes earlier than the present time. In this way, there will be during the day, practically a five-minute service in each direction as far as Westford street, thus enabling patrons to catch trains promptly. It will mean better service out in that section of the city, although the so-called "station lines" have always been somewhat better for service than can be found on the several other lines.

The first car for Chelmsford Centre on week days leaves Merrimack square at 5.10 a. m. and on Sundays at 7.30. The return from Chelmsford to Merrimack square at 5.40 a. m. The Chelmsford street cars will run every 20 minutes on Sundays after 8.15 a. m.

The North Chelmsford line changes are as follows: Week days except Saturdays, start from Merrimack square at 2.45 a. m., running every 20 minutes to 11.25 p. m. Saturdays, 8.45 a. m. every 20 minutes to 11.25 a. m., then every 10 minutes to 11.25 p. m. Sundays, 7.15 a. m. and half-hourly to 12.15 p. m., then every 20 minutes to 11.25 p. m.

The Billerica line will have more hours service, the schedules reading as follows: Week days except Saturdays, start from Merrimack square at 2.45 a. m., running every 20 minutes to 11.25 p. m. Saturdays, 8.45 a. m. every 20 minutes to 11.25 a. m., then every 10 minutes to 11.25 p. m. Sundays, 7.15 a. m. and half-hourly to 12.15 p. m., then every 20 minutes to 11.25 p. m.

Discuss Far East Problems DRACUT WOMAN SHOT BY BOY Undertakers' Automobiles Kill Two

Woman Shot By Boy Whom She Ordered Off Her Premises; On Dangerous List at Hospital

Mrs. Mary Kunuski, of Melhuen road, Dracut, is on the dangerous list at St. John's hospital suffering from severe gunshot wounds said to have been inflicted by Mitchell Kopacz, who with George Therrien, both of Dracut, was skunk hunting in that town yesterday afternoon. The two hunters, both boys of about 15 years of age, were arrested, Kopacz on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon and Therrien for alleged delinquency. The youths will be arraigned in the juvenile session of the district court Friday.

According to stories related to the police, Kopacz and Therrien were hunting on the property of Mrs. Kunuski. Both had a shotgun. The woman first ordered them off the land, the story goes, but when the youths refused to move she chased them with a stick. Kopacz, the police allege, leveled his weapon at the woman and discharged it. The buckshot entered her chest, forearms and abdomen. The boys say the shooting was accidental.

CANDIDATES FOR MAYORALTY NOW MAKING VIGOROUS FIGHT

Several Candidates Out Nightly on the Stump
---Indoor Rallies Also Numerous---Dr.
Mignault Has Others Guessing --- The School Board Contest

After receiving a severe setback Monday night by the unfavorable weather conditions, the candidates were out in force last night. The mayoralty contestants covered a great deal of ground and were well received everywhere, and as usual the candidates for councilor and school committee followed closely on their heels. Several indoor rallies were held at which there were many speakers.

At the Lyon street school, the popular rallying place for wards four and five, quite a flock of aspirants ascended the platform and expounded their political doctrines. The people of this district are particularly favored around election time, possibly because the school affords an opportunity for the candidates to thaw out after the street corner sessions.

There were two rallies in Centralville. At Odd Fellows' hall in Bridge street a rally was held in the interest of one of the mayoralty candidates, who addressed the crowd assembled, and was followed by one of the ward candidates and a woman candidate for school committee. The mayoralty candidate went from Odd Fellows' hall to the quarters of the Crescent Hill association where he was accorded a splendid welcome from all accounts.

It is promised that tonight other sections of the city will be favored by visits from the candidates. They are traveling under a full head of steam just now, and their utterances are very diverting to the throngs who gather to hear them.

The possibility that Commissioner Donnelly may take the stump for the first time in his political career is the most interesting development in the mayoralty situation this week. So accustomed have the people become to the usual quiet type of campaign waged by the commissioner in the past, that they are reluctant to accept this report as a possibility. The candidate, however, has made several addresses at indoor rallies, and his friends are urging him strongly to go out on the street corners and answer the personal attacks made upon him.

Several of the other candidates, including Mr. O'Sullivan and Donovan, address several rallies daily. Mr. Brown is devoting his attention chiefly to the factory gates where he assails Mayor Thompson. His honor has not yet taken the stump.

Dr. Mignault is the conundrum of the campaign. He scolds the idea that he is the stool pigeon for any other candidate. He is working hard for the nomination.

Since Monday's drawing many of the candidates for councilor at large have been heard to express discontent with their official positions on the ballot. They fear that the average voter will become tired of reading over the names before he reaches the latter half of the list and will make his selections in the first section. Others reason that there is little likelihood of this, since most of the voters will go to the polls with their minds made up and will not be discouraged by the task of finding their favorite candidates.

The deponents have the ward nominees already selected. It would hardly be fair, however, to mention the names picked, and this would be a difficult thing to do in any event, since no two men pick the same winners.

MOTORMAN IS INJURED

Owen McQuade Got Caught Between Car and Door and Moving Car

Crushed between a moving car and the door of the car barn in Middlesex street while trying to enter the building, at 5:15 this morning, Motorman Owen McQuade, 43 years old and married, living at 14 Chambers street, had his right collar bone broken and received multiple bruises. He was taken quickly to St. John's hospital, where the bones were set. His condition was at first regarded as critical, but this noon it was stated at the hospital that he would probably recover. It is not believed that he received internal injuries, although he received a bad shaking up when he was literally rolled along with the car as it swept by the doorway.

The car was one that was being taken out for the first morning run. It stopped half-way out of the house, and McQuade, anxious to get his car, stepped alongside the other car and started to enter the house. As he did so, the motorman suddenly started up, and the space between the car and door being very narrow, McQuade was caught and rolled around several times before his plight was seen.

McQuade has been employed by the road for the past 15 years and has an excellent record.

THIRD DAY OF TRIAL OF FATTY ARBUCKLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—Rocco Arbuckle, on trial for manslaughter in connection with the death of Virginia Ruppe, for two days has worn a forlorn expression, frowning his felt hat, rolled paper and sat apparently oblivious of what was transpiring, while attorneys wrangled over legal points and put lengthy questions to prospective jurors.

When the third day of the trial opened today, 11 jurors, including five women, had been accepted.

INDICTED JUDGE SERIOUSLY ILL

Grand Jury Finds Against Justice Pierce and Atty.
Gen. Allen

Former Accused of Conspiracy and Latter Charged With Larceny

BOSTON, Nov. 16.—The immediate disposition of the indictment returned secretly against Justice Edwin P. Pierce of the supreme court bench by the Suffolk county grand jury yesterday was in doubt today due to his serious illness. The indictment charged him with conspiring with W. Edwin Uimer, an attorney, to obstruct the administration of justice and to divert to Uimer instead of to the rightful heirs, control of certain properties. Uimer was arraigned shortly after the indictment was returned, but because of the sickness of Judge Pierce no service of the warrant was made on him.

Allen Under Arrest

Attorney General J. Weston Allen was under technical arrest today on a warrant charging larceny from a client in 1917. He was expected to appear in the superior court in the day to plead to the indictment. He had retained as his counsel Herbert Parker, a former attorney general.

The cases involving the attorney general and Judge Pierce and Attorney Uimer are distinct. The indictment returned against Attorney General Allen concerned his dealings as counsel with Nellie T. Beck, now the wife of Charles H. Olson. One count charged him with larceny of $155, from her; another with larceny of a check of that sum, payable to her and a third with larceny of $21.12, described as her property. The money is alleged to have been paid to Allen by a brother of the woman.

Justice Pierce and Attorney Uimer are charged with conspiring to obstruct the due administration of justice and to unlawfully deprive heirs of Edmund Wood from obtaining control of the Waban Base conservatories and the Henry Wood's Sons Co., the latter a paint manufacturing concern in Weylesley. Both concerns are now in receivership after extended litigation.

George L. Mayberry, retained as counsel for Judge Pierce, said he had had no formal notice of the indictment. Attorney Uimer said he would be his own counsel in the matter. The attorney general stated that he intended to go before the court to plead at his convenience. District Attorney Pelletier, who with his assistants, presented the evidence on which the indictments were returned, said his only comment in the cases would be made in court.

Mr. Pelletier, himself the subject of proceedings brought by the attorney general and the Boston bar association for his removal and his disbarment, was looking to the supreme court for action on his request to postpone hearing of the charges so that he might be able to devote his time more largely to his candidacy for mayor.

Atty. Gen. Allen appeared before Judge Irwin in the superior court later and entered a plea of not guilty. He was released on his personal recognizance. No date was set for a hearing.

SACO-LOWELL SHOPS
Motor trouble in the driving power of the Saco-Lowell shops caused the entire plant to shut down at 10.30 o'clock this forenoon. The trouble was later adjusted and at 1 o'clock this afternoon operations were resumed.

Intricate Questions That Have Long Troubled Diplomats Tackled at Arms Conference Today

Automobiles Kill Aged Man In Back Central Street and Boy In High Street

Two fatalities resulting from automobile accidents happened in this city today.

Frank Searies, aged 76, of Central street, and five-year-old Jesse Pucke, of High street, were the victims. Both died at the St. John's hospital shortly after being taken there.

The accident in which Searies was killed occurred at 7.30 o'clock this morning at a point near St. Anthony's church in Central street. The automobile that is said to have struck the 76-year-old man was operated by Joseph Albert, a local undertaker. Mr. Albert claims he was driving his car at a moderate rate of speed, when suddenly he saw Searies crossing the street. He claims Searies stopped and then turned back in the direction of the sidewalk from whence he came. At that point, so Mr. Albert claims, he slowed down and swung his machine to the right and Searies was struck by the rear end of the car and was thrown to the ground.

The driver of the car rushed the injured man to St. John's hospital, where he was able to give his name and state that he was employed by George A. Lovejoy, the painting contractor. He died twenty minutes later.

Very little is known of Searies. It seems, however, that at one time he lived in this city and later went to Lawrence, where he remained some time. A short time ago he returned to this city and secured employment with Mr. Lovejoy. He worked all day yesterday and it is believed he was on his way to work when the accident occurred this morning. Deceased has no known relatives and is believed to have occupied a room in Central street in the vicinity of where the accident happened.

High Street Accident

Driving the automobile that struck young Pucke, according to the police, was Thomas P. Dalton, of 242 D street, South Boston. The latter reported the accident to the police who arrested Dalton on a charge of manslaughter. He was bailed out at once by Robert E. Lynch, of 12 Leonard avenue, Cambridge, an undertaker, who was in the machine with Dalton. Lynch furnished the $2000 set for bail by stripping 20 $100 from a huge roll he drew from his pocket. Lynch told the police he was the owner of the automobile.

At 11.55 o'clock Dalton drove into High street near East Merrimack, according to the story related to the police by the three men, when two little girls and five-year-old Pucke started to run across the street coming from behind a car. The two girls kept on running across, but the boy, at the sight of the approaching automobile, suddenly stopped as though dazed, and after hesitating a few seconds started to run back. Dalton said he could not bring the machine to a full stop, having swung the car so as to pass in back of the youngster. The child was struck and knocked down. Dalton and the other two men picked him up and rushed him to the hospital, but he died almost immediately after arriving there.

The operator of the machine further told the police he sounded his horn and slowed down to a rate of speed of about 10 miles an hour when he saw the children crossing the street.

GAME SHIPMENTS MUST BE LABELED

The United States department of agriculture calls attention today to new federal laws which require that all packages in which wild ducks, geese and other migratory game birds are transported must have the name of the shipper and of the consignee and an accurate statement of the numbers and kinds of birds contained therein clearly and conspicuously marked on the outside thereof. Sportsmen shipping game birds without proper markings are liable to prosecution in the federal courts and the birds to seizure and condemnation.

NINE NATIONS PARTICIPATE

Delegates Assemble for Preliminary Discussion and to Lay Plans of Procedure

None of the Representatives Appeared Anxious to Break Ice as Session Opened

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(By the Associated Press).—Problems of the Far East, whose solution is adjudged an integral part of the question of armaments, took the center of attention at the arms conference today while the plan for reduction of naval establishments was passing through a period of technical examination at the hands of a committee of experts.

For the first time the delegations of the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France, Italy, China, Belgium, Portugal and The Netherlands, acting as a committee of the whole on the Far Eastern questions, assembled for preliminary discussion and to lay plans for procedure.

In contrast to the manner in which the conference tackled the armament problem on its opening day, the representatives of the powers went into today's committee meeting waiting on one another to speak first about the intricate questions that long have troubled diplomatic relations in the Pacific and the Orient. Of course every nation had a rather concrete ideal of the principles it meant to present, once the negotiations began but no one seemed anxious to break the ice.

LOWELL CASES IN THE SUPERIOR COURT

The cases against Thomas Wolanin, Frank Urbanek and John Bardek, all of this city, charged with removing mortgaged property, will be tried Monday in the superior criminal court at Cambridge. The trial was brought before the higher tribunal on an appeal from the local district court.

The trial is charged with having unlawfully removed from a dry goods store they purchased on Lakewood avenue early last summer two truckloads of wearing apparel, all property that had been mortgaged by the former owner of the store. Shortly after one of the loads was located in Lawrence. The rest of the goods was not found until several weeks ago when the district police raided a house in that town and discovered the property completely hidden in partitions of the dwelling.

Two other appealed cases that are to be disposed of in the Cambridge court on that day are those against David Stahl, assault and battery, and against Antonio Gonsalves, charged with illegally keeping liquor.

17,000 Theatres to Show Free Movies to School Pupils

PAULINE FREDERICK. SHE HAS COMPLETED "THE LURE OF LADY" AND IS NOW FILMING "JUDITH OF BLUE LAKE RANCH."

BETTY COMPSON AS SHE WILL APPEAR AS THE STAR IN PENNYHILL STANLEY'S PICTURIZATION OF "THE LITTLE MINISTER."

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Children are to be given free showings of movies of an educational nature once a week in 17,000 theatres of the United States.

This was arranged at a meeting of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners Association of America, with public educational leaders and representatives of the United States department of labor.

At the same time the theatre owners arranged to show at least once a week a one-reel film of educational nature in their regular shows.

This reel is to be prepared by Charles Urban, who produces the Kinetograph, and a committee appointed by the theatre owners.

The United States bureau of economics will co-operate in this work.

Thus the movie takes a definite step toward education of the masses.

A Study in Styles

Pennyhill Stanley's picturization of "The Little Minister" will offer an interesting study in changing styles.

Betty Compson is seen in flounces and ruffles and a skirt that contains yards and yards of goods. This, in the period of 1830.

George Mackathorne, as Gavin, the little minister, wears skin-tight trousers and frock coat.

Men in the east wear high stocks and choker collars.

More Foreign Films

There are now in this country an exhibition or ready for exhibition, films made in England, France, Italy, Spain, Ireland, Norway, Sweden and Germany. The latest country to enter the American film market is Czechoslovakia.

Two films from the latter country are "Love in the Bohemian Mountains" and "The Girl From the Silver Frontier."

Short Reel Programs

Here's more evidence of the growing popularity of movie programs made up of short reel subjects. "The Capitol, New York City, the largest theatre in the world, is for the second time showing a program of pictures the longest of which is three reels. As was the case before, the house is packed to capacity.

Hughes to Direct

Authors have often said that the movies butcher their stories, that directors miss the author's point of view. Rupert Hughes has been handed a megaphone by the Goldwyn company and will direct his next story. The result should be very interesting to authors.

"The Hopin' Fool"

Will Rogers has released a two-reeler called "The Hopin' Fool." It shows his many tricks with the lariat. They are made doubly interesting by slow-motion photography.

There isn't much of a story to the film, but, as Rogers said in a subtitle, "Ninety per cent. of the movies contain no story, but this is the first one to admit it."

Rogers ranks next to Rupert Hughes in the art of title writing. Here are a few examples.

"They say Griffith pictures set the movies ahead four years. This one will put them back where they were."

"I don't know what they consider art, but there's 30 years' hard work in this picture."

Film Rhinoceros

Hill, who was the pup in Chaplin's "A Dog's Life," is the dog in Marshall Neilan's "Poncho."

Mera Dean half the scenes of "The Little Minister," Katherine Macdonald's next, were made at night.

Nancy Dwyer, a newcomer in the movies, plays opposite Eugene O'Brien in "Chivalrous Charlie."

Fifteen two-reel versions of "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes," made in England are to be shown in the United States.

Well, well! It has just been discovered that William Farnum was born in Boston, July 1, 1876, just 100 years after the first firecracker exploded.

Mary Wilkinson, who plays the part of Nanny in "The Little Minister," has been in the movies eight or nine years yet she has never seen herself on the screen.

Rudolph Krause, 12, will play the part of a young German in "Poncho." He can speak only six words of English and is the first German employed by Marshall Neilan since the war.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres Own Press Agents

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

A classy, smoothly-moving vaudeville show is the one which is being presented at the B. F. Keith theatre, this present week. Every act is distinctive and the entire programme runs through several of them is a specially good attraction. "The Love Game," in which Harry Hayden and his excellent company appear is the top item of the bill, and it is a romantic comedy with a specially good character brought out. Then there are performances by the Lowell Players of the melodrama "Over the Hills to the Poor House" at the Opera House. Miss Ollie Minell's character of the mother, is one of the best bits of acting seen in Lowell in many seasons. The remainder of the engaging cast is also first class. The return of the Opera House orchestra, which has been in feature in connection with the production. Next week George M. Cohan's musical play, "45 Minutes From Broadway" will be given. Order your tickets early.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Final performances of "Three Men on a Horse" starring William A. Hart and "The Bonnie Briar Bush," a Donald Crisp Scotch production, will be given at the Merrimack Square theatre this evening. Tomorrow afternoon there will be an entire change of program.

The features for Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be "The Outside Woman," a comedy of modern life starring Wanda Hawley; "Quo Vadis," a noted George Kline production and a Larry Semon comedy, "The Bell Hop."

"The Outside Woman" is an entertaining comedy of two apartments on adjoining floors; a fire escape extremely busy with the comings and goings of characters seeking to avoid each other's appearances and an ugly Aztec idol which causes all the trouble. It is one of those clever domestic farces which a frivolous wife is taught a sound lesson.

"Quo Vadis" is a revival of the great European picture which ever lived. It is the story of the production deserving to rank with "The Birth of a Nation" in commercial values. The Larry Semon comedy is entitled "The Bell Hop" and is one of the funniest ever made by this comedian. The International News completes the bill.

RIALTO THEATRE

"Man, Woman and Marriage," the faithful story of the life of woman from the medieval period and up to the present day, is beginning its third day at the Rialto theatre and promises the overwhelming success that has marked its showing for the past two days. This is one of the most costly and gorgeous pictures ever shown on the Rialto screen and does justice to Dorothy Phillips in the leading role. On the same program is a western drama, also a comedy, "Let Me Explain," a Fors educational and the Kingmans.

OPERA HOUSE SUNDAY

Shaun O'Farrell, the well known "Irish Troubadour," the latest phenomenal tenor to come across the seas, will make his first appearance in Lowell next Sunday afternoon at the Opera House, bringing his company of singers and entertainers, including Katharine Sullivan, "The Song of Erin," and John O'Nolan, the well known Wicklow piper, presenting his realistic sketch "At Home in Old Ireland," and supported by "Dall Treann's" exclusive series of motion picture events in Ireland, from 1916 to the present day, some of which were suppressed by the British government.

MAYOR THOMPSON ON LIQUOR LAW ENFORCEMENT

READ CAREFULLY—READ IMPARTIALLY

Abstract of District Court Record for Year Ending Sept. 30, 1921

Number of Defendants Brought Before Court for Violating Liquor Law	Lowell	Lynn	Fall River	Lawrence	New Bedford
	208	188	213	209	159

NOTE: In the District Court of Lowell there were imposed in the above liquor cases fines aggregating $21,275. Of these, 135 defendants paid fines and the rest appealed.

Lowell police made 336 searches of premises for unlawfully keeping liquor and in 105 of these places actually seized liquor.

Under license laws there were 109 licensed places in Lowell. Of the 30 near-beer saloons now existing, LOWELL POLICE IN THE PAST YEAR OBTAINED 24 CONVICTIONS OF EITHER THE PROPRIETOR OR CLERK.

COMMENTS OF PUBLIC OFFICIALS CHARGED WITH LIQUOR LAW ENFORCEMENT

Judge John J. Pickman, Lowell District Court, interviewed in Lowell Sun Under Date of September 16:

"I am satisfied that the local liquor squad is bringing into court violators of the prohibition laws, who are the real menace to the community; men who manufacture liquor and by well organized means make wide distribution of it. It is my honest opinion that Sergt. Winn of the local liquor squad with his officers are rounding up some of the element really at the bottom of liquor traffic in this city and their work is highly commendable."

"The public does not realize what effective work the liquor squad of the local police department is doing, particularly because persons reading names of offenders fined in police court believe them to be obscure persons, but, who, in reality, though they may be obscure and unknown to the general reading public, are the manufacturers of a great amount of the illicit liquor in circulation."

HARRY G. SHELDON, FEDERAL ENFORCEMENT OFFICER, Interview, Lowell Leader, October 18, 1921:

"Private stills are doing greatest harm with a few saloons contributing."

Asked if it is difficult to apprehend the keeper of a saloon, Officer Sheldon said: "It is. Outlooks are posted and one has to be very well known to get in."

HAROLD D. WILSON, CHIEF FEDERAL ENFORCEMENT OFFICER, Address Eliot Church, Lowell, October 25, 1921:

"Don't Let Anyone Tell You That There Is More Drunkenness in Lowell Today Than Before Prohibition, or That Liquor Is Running Freely Down the Streets. That is Utter Foolishness and, More Than That, AN ABSOLUTE LIE."

"Near-beer saloons are serving only to friends whom they know very well, and that is why it is so hard for federal officers and local officers to obtain convicting evidence when raids are conducted."

"There is No Law, State or Federal, Which Prohibits Near-Beer Saloons From Operating."

"The Lowell police liquor squad, with the mayor at the head of the department, has accomplished a great deal of good work in this city, but what your mayor and liquor inspectors need is more real co-operation from their fellow citizens."

"Moonshine accounts for a large percentage of intoxication and that is why enforcement officers everywhere have concentrated their efforts against the private still."

TO MY FELLOW CITIZENS:—

I Have Presented a Straightforward Analysis of the Prohibition Situation. I Ask That You Credit Me With Sincerity of Purpose in My Endeavors to Enforce the Law. DO NOT BELIEVE EVERY STORY MANUFACTURED FOR CAMPAIGN PURPOSES AND AIMED TO LESSEN MY INFLUENCE WITH YOU. No Mayor Would Be Immune From Such Attacks Having Served the Past Two Years Under Prohibition.

RIGID ENFORCEMENT OF PROHIBITION IS A BIGGER QUESTION THAN WERE CHANGING OF MAYORS IN OFFICE

SEVENTH ANNIVERSARY

Broadway Social and Athletic Club Holds Enjoyable Banquet and Celebration

The seventh anniversary banquet of the Broadway Social and Athletic association, held last evening in the rooms of the Butler Veterans Firemen's association in Fletcher street, proved one of the most enjoyable affairs in the history of the organization.

While an entertainment and speaking program of rare excellence was given and a supper fit for the kings served, the most impressive feature of the entire evening came near the close, when, at the suggestion of Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan, the toastmaster asked all to stand in silence for one minute as a tribute to the memory of deceased members. Suddenly a scene of solemnity and festivity was converted into a solemn assemblage of mourners, with all standing with heads bowed and many with unbidden tears in their eyes.

The Broadway club has attained an enviable reputation for its hospitality, generosity, loyalty and devotion, and with such a foundation remarkable progress has been made during its seven years.

The Speakers

The speakers of the evening included His Honor, Mayor Perry D. Thompson; Edward F. Saunders, chief of the fire department; James H. Walker, president of the Butler Vets. Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan and John J. Donovan, both members; Michael Quinn of the Courier-Citizen and William H. Sullivan of The Sun. The speakers all took occasion to congratulate the members for their remarkable prosperity, for their many humanitarian acts, for their loyalty and devotion to one another and for the important work they had accomplished not only for those in the immediate vicinity of the room, but in many sections of the city.

The festivities last evening opened at 8:30 when all first assembled around the festive board to enjoy an appetizing turkey supper served by Caterer Lydon. Daniel J. Coakley, chairman of the banquet committee, then called to order and extended a cordial welcome to all. He thanked the members of the club committee, the guests and all others for their assistance in the affair. He then turned the gavel over to toastmaster James Clinton. Mr. Clinton spoke of the remarkable growth of the organization, comparing its advancement to the oak in the forest, which grows from a small acorn. He said that the reason for the progress was due to the faculty of all to pull together and he urged a continuance of this policy.

Al Forrest was then called upon for piano selections, and he remained at the piano, to excellently play the accompaniments for most of the singers. Walter Pouliot also played several pieces and accompanied some of the soloists.

Financial Report

William A. Walsh, president of the club, then presented the financial report, prepared by the treasurer. It showed that since the formation of the club, seven years ago, the total receipts, exclusive of the special funds raised for the Christmas tree funds, etc., were $15,114.73. The total expenses have been $3,133.35. The club has $100 invested in Liberty bonds, and with $380.95 in cash on hand, the club's financial assets are $1350.68.

Mr. Walsh then thanked the members for re-electing him for a third term, for their cooperation and assistance during his administration, and also paid a glowing tribute to the officers who preceded the present board. He told of plans for the coming Christmas entertainment, saying the members planned to make it the best ever. A dance to raise funds for the tree exercises will be held next month.

James Deignan then favored with several songs, after which James H. Walker spoke. He talked in a reminiscent strain, telling of the many happy moments he had spent within the walls of the headquarters. He said he had been president of the Butler Vets for 25 years and had served in various other capacities. He told of the great record made by the club in sending a stream 265 feet, 7 inches and a record for many years, until broken by the Hancock's of Brockton. In conclusion he presented a large picture of himself, which had been given to him ten years ago, to the Broadway club. Frank McMartin followed with a brace of fine vocal selections.

Chief Edward F. Saunders of the fire department spoke briefly, expressing his pleasure at being present and thanking the club for honoring him with the invitation. Michael Quinn of the Courier-Citizen then spoke along congratulatory lines, complimenting the members for the wonderful work they had accomplished in relieving distress in the neighborhood. Edward Donohoe sang several pleasing numbers.

Mayor Thompson

Mayor Perry D. Thompson was then called upon, and he said that he was going to ask to be excused from a lengthy speech as he preferred to

Denies Rumors of Impending Revolution

DETROIT, Nov. 16.—Belief that there is no foundation for rumors of an impending revolution in India was expressed by Bishop H. Lester Smith, of India, one of the speakers, at today's session of the national conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. Lack of friendship between the Mohammedans and Hindus would tend to prevent such a movement, he said. Bishop Smith declared English control of India must be continued "if anarchy is to be averted."

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—A pair of perfect feet, dainty, pink, exquisitely arched insteps and comfortable in 4½ B, has been discovered in New York and is on exhibition at the health show. Miss Doyle had on high heels, pointed toes and thin soles when the award was made.

Superdreadnaught Maryland Disabled

BOSTON, Nov. 16.—The superdreadnaught Maryland, which broke all speed records of her class in a run at 22½ knots over the Rockland, Me., trial course Monday, put in here today disabled. She had developed engine trouble during the continued tests after leaving Rockland. It was understood that one of her engines was entirely out of commission. Notwithstanding the accident, members of the trial board said the tests both of guns and of engines in the run down the coast, were most successful. The Maryland's big 16-inch guns were said to have operated perfectly. While the superdreadnaught took on fuel oil in the outer harbor efforts were made to repair the disabled engine with a view to having the Maryland continue her gun and cruising trials for two or three days more.

spend the evening visiting with the members. He praised the members for the happiness and joy they had brought to those in the section at Christmas time. He paid a tribute to the officers of the organization and the various committees he has come in contact with during his stay at city hall, saying that the Broadways were always welcome visitors. He said that one of the principal reasons for the prosperity of the club was the fact that the people stand back of such a worthy organization, an organization which works at all times with an unselfish motive.

Patrick Maguire followed in songs. John J. Donovan spoke briefly, saying that as a charter member of the organization he always enjoyed attending any and all affairs conducted at the rooms. George "Babe" Rogers then entertained in his own inimitable manner. Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan was then presented. He expressed his pleasure at being present to add his word of commendation, particularly for the work the organization has done in alleviating the sufferings of many worthy families. He said the club represents the best thought and spirit of this community, and the work it has accomplished, was not done as charity, but because of the fact that the Broadways consider those in the vicinity as one big family. He congratulated the members for the manner in which they support their officers in any and all undertakings, and in conclusion paid a tribute to those responsible in a measure for laying the foundation upon which the organization was built, who have since gone to their reward, and he asked the privilege of suggesting to the chairman that the memory of these men, be honored with a silent tribute from those assembled.

Dennis A. Murphy and William H. Sullivan were the concluding speakers, and they added their words of commendation for the achievements attained by the club. The members then paid tribute to their deceased members, after which the affair closed with all singing the "Star Spangled Banner."

The committee in charge was as follows: Daniel J. Coakley, chairman; Cornelius Riley, John Mullin, John McHale and John Miskell.

USE DOG SLEDs IN CAMPAIGN

DAWSON CITY, Y. T., Nov. 16.—The political campaign for the Yukon's lone seat in the Canadian parliament, is being run with dog sleds over the trackless white wastes of the frozen north.

F. T. Congdon, the liberal candidate, now on his way from British Columbia, will soon take the trail behind a special dog team at Whitehorse. Both candidates expect to cover hundreds of miles by sleds before the election, December 6.

Fur Coat Farm Is Booming—Each "Employee" Guarded, For He's Worth a Thousand or So—Some High Priced "Farm Hands"

SOME OF THE PENS ON THE CANADA WEST SILVER FOX RANCH, AND THEIR OCCUPANTS. THE SILVER FOX LITTER BELOW IS VALUED AT $20,000.

BY N. E. A. SERVICE

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16.—Listen girls! Five hundred potential fur coats are walking around up here.

They're silver black foxes, being reared for their fur on the Canada West Silver Black Fox ranch near here.

And here's a tip: The ranch proprietors say their fox farming has been so successful that before long fox fur will be so cheap that everybody will have fur coats!

Meanwhile here's how the ranchers treat the fur coats while they're still alive!

Every fox family has two houses to live in, despite the house shortage. That's because they like to move often. The two houses are set in an individual pen, 25 by 40 feet.

And cats! Their menu is changed every day. For breakfast they have shredded wheat or oatmeal or rice with cream. For dinner pigeons or chicken or eggs.

And if they hanker for their old wild life, the keepers give them a bit of raw meat with warm blood on it. Or a little meat with the hide on to keep them from biting off the tips of their tails, as they do sometimes.

And every fox has an individual set of dishes and drinking utensils. They're washed after every meal or the fox refuses to eat from them.

The same men are sent around to feed the foxes every day, because they're afraid of strangers. Visitors are rarely admitted.

A lot of fuss to make over a bunch of foxes, isn't it? But—

There isn't a fox on the farm who couldn't skin himself to the tune of $1000 or more. Sometimes a single animal sells for $20,000. One litter of cubs at the ranch is worth $20,000.

Right here, girls, let the ranch proprietors tell you how to guard against being hoodwinked in buying silver black fox fur. They say:

"The silver in the fur isn't white hairs. All the hairs are black at the tip, then a band of silver, then black to the roots. This silver band makes imitation impossible."

MILESTONES ON HAPPINESS ROAD

700 Moplah Rebels Killed In Battle

DELHI, India, Nov. 16.—Nearly 700 Moplah rebels were killed in an attack on the Pandikkad post, which was repulsed by the Gurkha garrison. The Moplah forces numbered 2000. One British officer and three men were killed, and 31 wounded. Reports of this and other clashes show that the rebels are using artillery. One gang was captured at Pandikkad, while five were taken in the operations northeast of Calicut.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The British deputy commissioner in Calcutta and 19 policemen were injured while suppressing a riot led by the tramway strikers, according to official advices. Several of the rioters were also injured. No shots were fired.

Sense of humor, imagination, honesty and simplicity are the principal milestones on "The Road to Happiness," Melville C. Freeman told an audience in Centralville N. E. church last evening. It was the second lecture in the community course now being given at that church.

In discussing the role played by imagination in securing happiness, Mr. Freeman laid stress upon the necessity of looking beyond the surface in relations with our fellow-men. Honesty is also indispensable, he declared, honesty with ourselves, with our business associates and with our friends. Sense of humor is much more important, the speaker explained, than is commonly believed.

"We should not take ourselves too seriously. Many a person has gotten too much out of life because of the adoption of a serious attitude with its consequent loss of perspective. Simplicity is indispensable. To attain true happiness we must as individuals be simple in speech, amusements and clothing. As a nation we should be simple in our relations with other people adhering to the old but trustworthy virtues."

GAME FROM ASIA MINOR

Sun Reporter Talks With
Real Greek Philosopher in
Centralville

From Asia Minor to Centralville: Introducing a Greek philosopher and deeply religious man with no crank attachments.

A Lowell business man whose motto is "Patience" and who hangs that motto on the wall of his store that all who enter may read.

On the eighteenth day of last September a man born in Asia Minor with the blood of the race of Socrates and Epaminondas in his veins, sat down behind the counter of a little confectionery and magazine shop on Bridge street, Centralville, and slowly wrote on a sheet of white foolscap the following:

"Cultivate the Power of Patience." "Be patient in small as well as in large matters. Be patient with people whose ideas and opinions differ from yours. Be patient when things do not terminate precisely as you wish. Be patient toward those with whom you are in familiar daily contact. Be patient at all times and under all circumstances. Patience manifests itself in a uniform evenness of temper. It enables you to listen attentively and receptively to others, even though they interrupt and contradict you.

"Patience combines self-control with generosity, so that it bears coolly with the defects, infirmities and injustices of others. Patience is an essential characteristic of all great and enduring accomplishment. "Patience is a power as well as a virtue."

Sun readers are invited to pass their opinion upon this Lowell business man, who lives the life of a Greek philosopher and who talks upon the deepest of subjects relating to democracy.

freely the information you seek, using only the smallest number of words. Back of the counter in his shop repose books of every description, but not so many as some libraries hold, of course. And now, friend reader, what book do you suppose lies right there on the glass counter every day, 265 days in the year, where customers and others can see and read it—and wonder at it, too?

Emerson's "Essays." It is the greatest book of philosophy in the world, according to Emmanuel Canary's way of thinking. It is a tiny affair of some 244 pages. It was printed in 1891 by the Altemus concern of Philadelphia, publishers of the classics. The cover is of blue, with silver stripes and spirals. Look within the first cover and read the inscription:

"April 14, 1914." That was the day that Canary reached his highest ambition. He was the owner of a copy of Ralph Waldo Emerson's great discursive work covering politics, nature, manners, character, experience and realism. Next to the book of God, Emerson's "Essays" is his favorite book.

Shakespeare comes next in Canary's library. "Wisdom of manifold value to all mankind," is the way Canary puts it. So, too, is "The Republic," the work of the world are not confined to the Greek philosophers, this Lowell man tells you, wisely. "My faith is simple," he said last night, as he gave a street urchin two sticks of candy and patted him on the head. The boy got double the value for his penny.

"Be patient to all men. I know what the heart of humanity is like. I am not egotistical. I am not vain-glorious. But I know that the average man, if he be patient in all things and lives a serene, untroubled life with patience always in his eyes and his heart, will be a good man. He will live a good life and be a man."

The philosophy of the Bridge street merchant who comes from the far off seat, of the world's greatest thinkers and philosophers, is well worth listening to.

WILL TAKE PART IN

WIRELESS TESTS

Lowell amateur wireless fans, some of whom have apparatus equipped for the receiving of messages from as far away as Norway and Berlin, will take part in the wireless tests for amateurs next month. Word came today from New York that Paul Godley, wireless inventor, has sailed for England on the Aquitania to represent the United States in the trans-Atlantic wireless experiments. He carried with him one of the most powerful receiving sets ever designed.

The tests are to be conducted under the auspices of the American Radio Relay league, an amateur organization that has loyal members in Lowell and vicinity.

It is estimated that between 15,000 and 20,000 American wireless stations will take part. More than 3000 British amateurs and many in France and Holland will also "listen in" for the test messages from the United States.

TIED TO CHAIR BY RHEUMATISM WINTHROP WOMAN NOW WALKS

Tells Weldon Man of Remarkable Recovery
After Years of Suffering

"I am able to walk again," was the statement made to the Weldon man by Mrs. L. M. Grundy, who lives at 294 Beverly street, Winthrop, Mass. "This is remarkable," she continued. "I suffered for five years from the terrible tortures of rheumatism. My knees were sore and stiff and I was compelled to go about the house in a wheel chair. I had to be lifted in and out of the chair and if I attempted to stand I would fall. My fingers were sore and stiff and I was afraid of anyone coming near me for fear they would touch the chair and bring on a paroxysm. I was treated by physicians who did everything they could to relieve my suffering, but they failed to benefit me. I secured Weldon and had not taken it more than a month before I saw it was helping me, and by continuing the treatment I was able to get about the house without my wheel chair and do my own housework." Send to Weldon Co., 132 Boylston street, Boston, for free book, "Germs of Rheumatism." You can get Weldon from A. W. Dowd, and all reliable druggists. —Adv.

This is one fighter Uncle Sam does not intend to scrap—the new dreadnaught California, mightiest of the Pacific fleet. A few ships of this type will be the most powerful in the U. Norway Protests Danish Action

CHRISTIANIA, Nov. 16.—The Norwegian government has informed Denmark that it cannot recognize the extension of Danish sovereignty to the whole of Greenland, which was announced last May. Norway contends that the Danish action prejudices the rights of Norwegians to the whaling, sealing and fishing which they have until now carried on unchallenged in Greenland waters.

TAX REVISION BILL Senate and House Conferees Expected to Reach Agreement

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Senate and house conferees who have under discussion the tax revision bill were expected to reach an agreement today on several of the more important amendments. Provisions of the excise and soft drink schedules were definitely fixed under an agreement yesterday, the house managers, after striking out the proposed four per cent manufacturers' tax on perfumes, essences, extracts, etc., accepting the excise taxes as finally approved by the senate.

The income surtax features of the bill, which are conceded by leaders to be the principal matter in controversy, probably will come to a vote in the house Thursday, it was said today.

MOVE TO END GARMENT WORKERS' STRIKE

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Efforts to end the Garment Workers' strike called here last Monday, will be made by the American Cloak and Suit Manufacturers' association today. This organization, whose members employ about one-third of the 50,000 strikers, did not participate in the demand of the Manufacturers' Protective association for the piecework system and increased working hours which brought about the strike.

After a meeting last night, Charles Sussman, spokesman for the American association, announced a conference of all parties to the strike would be called to establish working conditions in the trade that would be acceptable to the employers, the employees and consumers.

Benjamin Schlesinger, union head of the strikers, said working agreements with 40 such manufacturers were signed yesterday, and several thousand workers would return to work this morning.

4000 A DAY GROWTH IN NEW YORK TRAFFIC

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Four thousand more passengers rode in New York subway trains, trolleys and "L" trains today than were carried yesterday. Tomorrow there will be another increase of 4000. This 4000-a-day growth in traffic has been continuing for several months, according to figures prepared for submission today to the state transit commission by its experts.

Last year the various traction lines of the city carried nearly 2,500,000,000 passengers, an increase of 500,000,000 over 1918. Yet the car miles increased less than 5 per cent in this period. The result has been more and more strap-hangers.

GEN. PERSHING KISSES BRITISH WAR MOTHER

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 16.—Gen. John J. Pershing, upon being introduced to Mrs. Amelia Emma McCudden, British war mother, at the banquet to Marshal Foch last night, complimented Mrs. McCudden upon her visit to America and then leaned forward and kissed her.

"Your visit to America will do much to create a friendly spirit between England and America," he said. The English woman sent three sons into the British army, none of whom returned.

Another incident which delighted the guests was the meeting of Marshal Foch and Gen. Pershing.

"Bon jour, bon jour," Gen. Pershing exclaimed warmly as he rushed forward and grasped the hands of the generalissimo.

"Well, well," said Marshal Foch. Then the two retired to a private room to continue their conversation. Before leaving for Washington late last night, Marshal Foch called on Cardinal Dougherty.

Dear Sir:—Your Lung Healer is a

dear remedy. I cannot praise it too highly. It will do all you claim for it. I gave it to my two children last winter, one of them had pneumonia, the other one had a very bad cough. I heard of Allen's Lung Healer. Getting one bottle to try. I found it was something elegant. I would not be without it in my home in the winter for my children.

secular interest in Ireland and declares that if it had been delivered by a minister of the Dail Eireann it could not have put the case more accurately.

The Bulletin quotes passages from the address dealing with the rights of peoples and adds: "If Ireland has armed to defend rights which should have been recognized without war, has done so only after years of patient trust in the justice of her demands. Concerning matters not essential to national existence we are ready to attend our rights to the needs, and even to the fears of the British people. 'The American president knows that peace cannot be attained by humbling the pride of a people. We believe with President Harding that the whole basis of peace rests on mutual understanding.'"

Greatest Event Since War
LONDON, Nov. 16 (by the Associated Press).—A despatch to the London Times from Cape Town quotes the Cape Town Times as saying that Secretary Hughes' proposal for a naval holiday marked the most remarkable event since the outbreak of the world war. "Such proof of real devotion to the highest welfare of mankind," the Cape Town newspaper is quoted as saying, "cannot fail to evoke response from the peoples of Great Britain and her dominions. Their first impulse will be to rival in generosity the action of the American president and people." The newspaper is quoted as suggesting that such rivalry might take the form of Great Britain's cancellation of her allied debts, adding: "This would be a sacrifice comparable in scale to President Harding's offer on behalf of America."

THE GAGNON "FAMILY"

Gagnon Company Employees
Give Banquet and Theatre
Party—Officers Elected

The Gagnon company, E.M.B.A. last evening celebrated the second year of its organization with a sumptuous banquet and theatre party.

The banquet was held in Grafton hall and Caterer Lydon fairly outdid himself in his efforts to serve the best.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gagnon, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Desrosiers were the guests of honor. Mr. Emile Gagnon was master of ceremonies. Mr. Joseph Gagnon, president of the Gagnon company, took occasion to thank his employees for their fine service and loyalty, giving them all the credit for making the store, though barely two years old, the fine success that it is.

Mr. Gagnon also congratulated the association on the fact that the membership was 100 per cent. with a substantial financial backing due to their own efforts. He also assured the association that he at all times stood ready to co-operate and help.

Addresses were also made by Louis Desrosiers, Emile Gagnon, Thomas Desrosiers and others. A musical program was given by the Misses Rose Rousset, Marietta Brunelle, Clara Breaux and Cecile Morin.

One of the features of the evening was the prize drawing and Mr. George Robbins, Jr., was the lucky winner of a ton of coal while Miss Clara Breaux was awarded a silver pencil.

Before the theatre party at Kellogg the annual election of officers was held and the following will serve for the coming year.

President, Thomas Teague, re-elected; vice president, Rose Rousset, re-elected; secretary, Clara Breaux; treasurer, George Lanctot, re-elected; auditors, Jessie McAdam, Margaret Gilligan, Emile Gagnon.

SERVIAN GYPSIES TO SPEND WINTER HERE

A party of Servian gypsies arrived in this city recently, coming over the road in automobiles from Chicago. The party made a hotel stop at Springfield and then came directly to Lowell, where they intend to spend the winter. They are divided into three families and have rented stores at the corner of Suffolk and Moody sts. in South street and in Middlesex street.

The women folks practice phrenology, while the men will attempt to secure work here as laborers.

The group is composed of three brothers by the name of Stevens, who are married and have children. The women and girls are attired in garbs of various colors and attract considerable attention in the street.

The women of the party speak several languages and two of them are able to converse in English. Portuguese, Italian, Polish, Russian, Spanish and Servian. Speaking about their trip from Chicago they stated that they encountered no trouble en route.

They traveled in two auto trucks and a large touring car and carried along with them all the necessary camping paraphernalia. They had made up their minds to spend the winter in Springfield, but they changed their plans a few days ago and journeyed to this city over the road. Upon reaching Lowell the men folks disposed of their trucks, but kept the touring car.

This morning the groups in Suffolk and Austin streets were visited by Chief Attendance Officer William F. Thornton, who later placed four of the children at the Cabot street school and another one, a boy aged 15, whose height is five feet and nine inches, at the Green school.

One of the little boys will be taken to city hall this afternoon to be vaccinated.

The group located at the corner of Suffolk and Moody streets are complaining of being annoyed by the children of the district, who congregate at their door and throw mud in their windows. Some of the youngsters yesterday afternoon broke down the door.

One of the party stated this morning that although several complaints have been filed with the police they seem unable to cope with the situation.

THE SEA GULLS STORY

SUDDENLY THERE WAS A ROAR AND A BANG AND WATER SHOT UP LIKE A PORCH PILLAR

Yes, sir, one old sea gull knew where the new island was. "I happened to be hunting for my dinner," said he, "and was just about to dip my beak under the waves where I saw a shiny little fish, when suddenly there was a roar and a bang and the water shot up like a porch pillar, only higher, and drenched me completely. I thought for a moment that I was gone, but when I came to my senses there I was lying high and dry on some brand new rocks. No, I wasn't dry either—I was very wet! But I was alive and that was enough. The sun soon dried my wings

THOUSANDS NOW TAKE IRONIZED YEAST

Sickly People Soon Regain Health and Strength by Taking Yeast and Iron in Convenient Tablet Form.

If you are weak, thin, pale, sickly, or generally run-down, you owe it to yourself to try Ironized Yeast, the new vitamin tonic treatment in tablet form.

Through this remarkable preparation, thousands of run-down people have been helped to regain rugged strength and sparkling health. The reason for these splendid results is that Ironized Yeast is rich in vitamins, which science has found to be absolutely essential to health. Most people's systems lack vitamins, for due to our modern methods of cooking, many of our best foods are robbed of their vitamin elements before reaching the table.

Ironized Yeast supplies your system with the necessary amount of vitamins, and in addition contains organic or vegetable iron, which is readily assimilated by the system, and which is one of the best known blood builders. Ironized Yeast is pleasant to take, keeps indefinitely, and is packed in convenient anti-tape packages. Each package contains 10 days' treatment and cost only one dollar. Thus, Ironized Yeast costs only a fraction more, per dose, than common yeast (only 10¢ a day), but is much more effective as it contains highly concentrated brewer's yeast, which is far richer in vitamins than ordinary baking yeast.

Get Ironized Yeast from your druggist today. You will no doubt be surprised at the quick results it will bring. Special directions for children in each package. Made by the Ironized Yeast Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

Choice Cuts

—and Others

A few weeks ago a newspaper man visited one of the wholesale markets of Swift & Company. He wanted to see a retailer buy a loin of beef and then watch the retailer sell the porterhouse and sirloin steaks from it over his counter. He thought this would make a good story.

The head of the market took the reporter into the "cooler" where he showed him a high class side of beef. With a wooden skewer he marked off the loin and said, "That would cost a retailer just 40 cents a pound, but it's only 8 per cent of the weight of the whole side."

"This piece, (and he marked off about one-fourth of the carcass) is the chuck and I'll sell it at wholesale for 7 cents a pound. Please remember, this is one of our best sides of beef. We also have beef which sells for half as much."

This wide variation in the price of various cuts from the same side of beef is caused largely by demand for the tender cuts. The others are, of course, just as wholesome.

It seems as though more people than ever are demanding choicer cuts, and their demand sets the price. If few people ask for the forequarter cuts, the price of forequarters will automatically drop to a figure low enough to induce people to buy because of cheapness.

Even though certain cuts sell for relatively high prices, other cuts, due to lack of demand, sell so low that our profit from all sources over a period of five years averaged only a fraction of a cent a pound.

It is competition between consumers for the choice cuts that keeps prices for those cuts relatively high; an equalizing demand for all parts of the carcass would benefit producer, packer, retailer and consumer.

Our average wholesale selling price of all products has fallen about 40 per cent since September 1920.

WOMAN SEEKS SHARE OF VATICAN ORGAN'S VIEWS
HANNA'S ESTATE

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 16.—Miss June Avis Evans, who claims to have been engaged to the late Dan B. Hanna, millionaire Cleveland publisher, yesterday began proceedings indicating her intention to sue for a share in the estate, estimated at his death to be worth $10,000,000. Mr. Hanna's will, which was filed here Monday, divided the bulk of his estate between his three sons, provision having been made for his daughters in his lifetime and in the event of his death to his four divorced wives.

The will, executed on Aug. 11, 1920, consists of four typewritten pages. There were two indentures, as both later imperfectly blotted out and marked "cancelled" in the testator's handwriting. One of these referred to giving his entire estate to his son, and a large amount of personal property to his son, Daniel B.

Another blotted out paragraph in the margin of the paper, which can be read through the blue says:

"It being my intention to marry June Avis Evans, then several words are indistinguishable and the paragraph ends, 'should I die before such marriage takes place, I instruct my executor to provide a trust.' (Then more blotted out, making the rest of the paragraph illegible.)

Attorneys for Miss Evans yesterday obtained permission to photograph the will. She claims the instrument leaves to Miss Evans a sum of $50,000 in addition to the country estate, "The Croft" and a large amount of personal property. Miss Evans and Mr. Hanna were married in 1915, as both later was legally free to do so, according to Leslie C. Ferguson, one of the testator's attorneys. Mr. Ferguson called attention to the fact that the alleged cancellation of the bequest to Miss Evans was not witnessed and was therefore illegal, adding that every attempt would be made to secure for Miss Evans the bequest for which she is mentioned.

and I was able to fly away, but I was dreadfully puzzled about the whole affair, for such a strange thing had never happened to me before. Do you know anything about it?"

Nancy told the old sea gull what Cap'n Pennywinkle had said, and explained how volcanoes sometimes blow up from the bottom of the sea, piling great rocks on top of each other until they reached the surface of the water.

"Yes," put in Nick, "and the worst of it is that sailors don't know the new island is there because it isn't marked on their maps, and they are likely to run their boats right into it in the dark."

"Well, well, well," said the sea gull thoughtfully. "What's to be done?"

"We'll go back and tell the fairy policeman at once," said Nancy, confidently. "He'll fix it some way. He knows a lot about everything."

Nancy was right. Cap'n Pennywinkle sent a thousand electric eels to illuminate the island that night, and in the meantime sent word to the fairy queen about the whole affair.

The fairy queen had her helpers build a fine big lighthouse, which is there to this minute.

"But I find myself whirled off on a tour of speech-making," she laughed. The Y. W. C. A. and various women's clubs have invited the 20-year-old Japanese woman to speak to them. Since she speaks only her own language, Mrs. Topping must be on the platform to interpret.

As for the Japanese language: "I spent 25 years there," says Mrs. Topping. "But—"

She shook her head despairingly. "I have a difficult time now trying to get the meaning of some of the phrases. It is a language that an American rarely, I could say never, masters."

Boxing

The tussle between Billy Murphy and Kid Thomas, here tomorrow night, is sure to have far-reaching results for the local boxing world. It is Murphy's opportunity to establish himself in front ranks.

Thomas is no champion nor will he ever become a champion. His athletic star is on the wane. Nevertheless, he is a first class "fist horse" for any one with main bout possibilities to go against. The Lawrence battant master workman inside the roped square, he has met the majority of the good boys in this part of the country and knows every trick in the trade.

If Murphy can go in and hold Thomas even he will be doing a good job. And there are many who stand ready to wager their opinion and also something more substantial that Billy can take Thomas' heat. Thomas he is made. Thomas can use every device known to ringdom as shown when he met Johnny Sheppard in Lowell. In the first show of the fight, he showed out, weighed him but found the little fellow well nigh impossible to hit.

Murphy is primarily a boxer but he can hit, too. He has two hands and both feet working at the time. But Thomas is a rugged opponent of the Thomas type can Murphy protect himself? This question will be answered when Billy goes against Thomas. For Billy is a brawler, as nearly clever as Thomas his advantage in weight and reach ought to counter-balance the latter's experience. The outcome is being watched with great expectancy locally.

The other ten-round event between Benny Nelson and Jimmy Griffin is also creating considerable interest in Lowell and Lawrence circle circles.

Homer Smith, the heavyweight champion of Michigan, created a little name for himself when he took on Billy Shade for 15 rounds on Saturday last at Brooklyn and while he lost the decision, he forced Shade to the limit. Smith is one of the best looking heavyweight boxers now in the game and a careful look at his record will show that he has met and defeated the best in the game with the exception of Champion Jack Dempsey. Four years ago when he was a novice, he held Bill Brennan to a draw at Machu, Wis., and the Michigan lumberjack is particularly anxious to meet Leo Flynn's entry in the bout. Smith has two losses over Captain Bob Reper. Smith has boxed Bartley Madden, Bob Roper, Bill Reed, Chuck Wiggins, Farmer Lodge, Hugh Walker and many others.

McCoogan starts on a western invasion next week when he goes to Minneapolis to box Pinkey Mitchell. Ten rounds, after which he battles with Jack Lawlor at Tulsa for the championship of the southwest for ten rounds and then on to Denver where he tackles Johnny Noye for 15 rounds before the stockyard A. C.

Today's Sport Angle

Picking an All-American football team for 1921 is going to be a more difficult job than reaching a decision in the disarmament conference.

Once upon a time in picking an All-American team, few of the critics went farther west than Philadelphia. It was a certainty that most of the players would be from Yale, Harvard and Princeton. On one certain team you could lay big odds that most of them would be from Yale.

Times have changed, however. In the last five years, the east no longer has all the rights reserved for any and all such teams. The south and the west have considerable to say as to who will win recognition on the many mythical teams that are selected.

Just to place you some idea of what the football expert is up against, consider a few of the games played in the last three weeks.

At the opening of the season it was pretty generally agreed that Stanley Keck of Princeton had a good chance to repeat as an All-American selection. Keck had a great year in 1920, and in Princeton's preliminary games showed his ability with Chicago. Then came the game with Chicago. The great Keck was pitted against McGuire, one of the best tackles in the west. Keck played a fine game, but McGuire, according to all reports, had much the better of the battle that was waged between these two great players. Princeton was beaten 2 to 6. The game had dimmed the star of Keck and brought McGuire into the spotlight.

The scene now shifts to Chicago, where Ohio State and Chicago clash in an all-important Western Conference game. Huffman of State is pitted against McGuire, the man who set the east agog by outplaying Keck. Huffman proceeds to make the affair all the more intricate by outplaying McGuire.

Never has there been so many outstanding stars making a bid for the All-American. After picking such a team, or perhaps better, guessing the team, it would be wise for the person so doing to seek a cyclone cellar.

FOUR TITLE CONTENDERS' HIGH SCHOOL SQUAD IN KEEP MANAGERS BUSY STIFF WORKOUT

Most boxing managers are content to have one contender for a championship title in their stable.

No so with Jimmy Dunn, the Cleveland mentor. At the present time Dunn has four boys who are class performers.

There are many who believe that Jack Tremaine is a better boy than Johnny Huff, the holder of the bantam title. Al Corbett, who is not known out of Ohio, is another contender. Both boys can easily make 115 pounds.

Johnny Karr is generally considered the logical opponent of Bryan for the welterweight honors. Bryan is a fifty-fifty middleweight champion, sharing the honors with Johnny Wilson.

Another boy in the Dunn stable who has shown great promise is Charley O'Connell, who has victories to his credit over Benny Valger, Blackie Richards and a number of other lesser lights.

O'Connell is a legitimate lightweight. He scarcely ever tips the beam at more than 120. Dunn has visions of his boys winning the middleweight and bantam championships during the next two years.

Killbane, who holds the featherweight title, is a product of Dunn's methods.—B. E.

MAY PLAY YALE

Iowa and Notre Dame mentioned as Possibilities

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Tentative negotiations are said to be in progress for a football game in New York next season between Yale and Iowa, bringing together the charges of Tad Jones, Yale's mentor, and his brother, Howard, who coaches the Hawkeyes.

Notre Dame also has been mentioned as a possibility on the Yale schedule next year, but it is believed Yale will prefer to play a conference eleven in an inter-sectional contest. Yale already has asked the Army team to return to the Bowl in 1922.

Honesty Paramount in Baseball, Says Billy Evans

ERDIE BOLAND WHO PITCHED TO FATE WHILE WITH ST. LOUIS.

OSCAR VITT WHO KNOCKED BOLAND OUT OF THE BIG LEAGUES

By BILLY EVANS
No one can better appreciate the honesty of baseball than the umpire. True, some the Chicago White Sox once strayed from the pathway of righteousness, but that case was one of the very few exceptions.

Time and again during the summer incidents came under the observation of the umpire that prove conclusively that to the player the honesty of the game is paramount. Let me relate such an incident.

Not so many years ago Oscar Vitt and Ernie Boland were members of the Detroit American league club. They were close friends, pals, and for years had been room mates. Both were rated extremely valuable players. Boland was a great pitcher, Vitt as a crack third baseman.

Strange Things Happen
Strange things happen in baseball and happen quickly. Last year found Vitt with the Boston Americans and Boland with the St. Louis Browns. Boland had been released by Detroit because of a bad arm. St. Louis needing pitchers badly, took a chance on him, as Boland expressed the belief that he was in shape to deliver.

In his first start with the Browns, Boland got along fairly well, good enough to justify the belief that he would be of some help to the St. Louis club. Then the Boston team invaded St. Louis for a series of four games.

Perhaps no fellow in baseball was more interested in Boland's attempt to come back than Oscar Vitt. Boland was selected to start one of the games against Boston. I was umpiring the bases and in the very first inning, Vitt came over to me and said: "What about Boland? How does he look, Bill? Do you think he has a chance to come back?"

Pleased With Optimism
I told Vitt that while Boland lacked his old-time speed, he had fairly good stuff left, and had a chance to bring along with the Browns. It was evident that Vitt was much pleased with my optimistic opinion as to Boland's chances.

Few pitchers know more about the art of pitching better than Ernie Boland. His knowledge of the weaknesses of every batter, his use of a slow curve and a nice change of pace, enabled him to go along for about five innings on even terms with the Bostonians. Then came the break of the game.

A base on balls, an error, and a hit filled the bases and brought Oscar Vitt to the bat. Here was the big crisis in the game. Oscar Vitt up, no bases filled, and Ernie Boland, his old pal, pitching his heart out in an effort to stick in the big leagues.

Oscar Vitt Hits
Did Oscar Vitt strike out? No. Oscar Vitt hit for two bases, scoring three runs and causing Yankee Fohl to remove Boland from the box. That hit won the game for Boston, sent Boland to the showers, and really ended his major league career.

When Vitt pulled up at second base, and the game had been stopped while a change of pitchers was being made, he walked over to where I was standing in the infield and said:

"I like my base hits as well as the next fellow, but I certainly was pulling for someone to catch that ball. That is one base hit you will never hear me talking about. I'm Ernie. I guess he is through when I can hit him that hard."

When Vitt pulled up at second base, and the game had been stopped while a change of pitchers was being made, he walked over to where I was standing in the infield and said:

"I like my base hits as well as the next fellow, but I certainly was pulling for someone to catch that ball. That is one base hit you will never hear me talking about. I'm Ernie. I guess he is through when I can hit him that hard."

On the Other Hand—

BY ROY GROVE

Criqui, the French featherweight boxing star, intends to come to this country in an effort to secure a match with Johnny Kilbane. Criqui should feel right at home with Kilbane, as they say kicking is not barred under the French rules.

Rogers Hornsby says there are only three good pitchers in the American league. Rogers should be excused for making such a rash statement, considering the only American league pitchers he ever battled against were members of the Browns.

The rules for golfing should be cursed. The game is going from bad to worse. The guy who finds his golf ball first, Oughta win.

Bo McMillin says Center defeated Harvard, because they used their brains to greater advantage. We imagine that statement will make Mr. McMillin a much talked about man to Harvard, with the reverse English on the talk.

"Big offer for Centre to meet Detroit."

Here are some famous alibis supplied by boxers who have suffered defeat in the last month. Toulter, beaten by Kansas, says, "I didn't start soon enough." Marty Burke, beaten by "Chuck" Wiggins, sprung an old one, "the referee was rotten, I won every round. 'Happy' Littleton, who lost to Mike Gibbons, was original when he said, "you can't hit a fellow who refuses to stand still."

Johnny Wilson doesn't need any monogrammed initials on his trunks; we know him.

One more of these funny looking fights and we're gonna learn to play golf.

Butler A.A. Football Team Claims Welterweight Championship of City

CHAMPION BUTLER A. A. BACKFIELD
Conway, rlb; Loucraft, qb; Hayden, fb; O'Hare, rlb

The Butler A.A. football team, welterweight champions of the city, are desirous of another meeting. The Indian Seconds claimed the title after defeating the O.M.J. Cadets. Then the Butlers played the Indians and won out by the score of 20 to 0, before what has been called the largest crowd that ever witnessed a game on the Fair grounds.

The Butlers are a light, but exceptionally fast outfit, and next year they aspire to play the Indian first team on the Fair grounds.

CARPENTIER ASKS POSTPONEMENT
DELRHI, France, Nov. 16.—Georges Carpentier has asked an indefinite postponement of his fight with George Cook, scheduled to be held in London December 5. The bout had previously been delayed a week at Carpentier's request.

The French fighter is reported to have broken down under his strenuous training routine, and physicians say he is typically unfit to fight.

BILLIARD CHAMPIONSHIP
CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—The veteran George Sutton meets Champion Willie Hoppe in one of the three matches on today's program of the International 1922 backside billiard championship. Hoppe, whose victory over Roger Connell of France, last night, marked his initial appearance in the tournament, demonstrated that he was in excellent form.

ALL MAJOR LEAGUE UMPS MAY WORK IN BIG SERIES

If a major league umpire is competent enough to work year after year in the games that decide who will win the world series, why not an umpire competent to work in the series?

George Carpentier has always refused to let any umpire capable of doing his job on the American scene. He is competent to work in the series. In selecting his men in the series, he is different.

In the National League it is different. There are several umpires who have worked for years in that organization and have never drawn a foul ball. On the other hand, Bill Kinn, regarded as the premier official of the staff, has worked in ten series. It hardly seems fair.

Restore Flat Five Cent Fare

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 15.—Decisions handed down by the public utilities commission today restore, for an experimental period of 90 days, a five-cent flat trolley fare in Bridgeport and reject applications for additional jitney routes in Bridgeport and to suburban towns. The commission stated the city of Bridgeport had not co-operated in supporting the trolley lines and had patronized the jitneys with "ruinous" effect on the former. The decision said the commission regarded the trolley service as essential in large centers of population, and would give the people of Bridgeport an opportunity to demonstrate whether they would support the trolley lines at the reduced fare.

FIRE IN STORE CELLAR IN AIKEN STREET

A threatening blaze occurred this morning in the cellar of the store of the A. & P. Co. at 219 Aiken street, when a lamp exploded among empty boxes and papers. The fire was put out, however, before any serious damage was caused.

The explosion took place when one of the employees of the store was doing some work in the cellar. The blaze quickly communicated to the partitions and was making great progress towards the upper part of the building when the firemen arrived in response to an alarm from box 138 at 8:15 o'clock. Several lines of hose were laid and the fire was quickly extinguished.

ACCIDENT CASES HEARD

Session of Industrial Accident Board Considers Two Cases of Injury

Commissioner Dickinson, of the industrial accident board, conducted a hearing in the aldermanic chamber at city hall this morning on the cases of Joseph Bolton vs. the Saco-Lowell shoe and Arthur Brown vs. Doherty Bros. for personal injuries.

In the first case, that of Joseph Bolton vs. the Saco-Lowell shoe, the commission took the case under advisement and will render a finding later. Mr. Bolton was represented by Patrick J. Reynolds, Esq., and the Liberty Assurance company by Robert H. Eaton. The testimony developed that on Nov. 13, 1920, Mr. Bolton, who was employed as a wood moulder in the Saco-Lowell shoe, caught his sleeve on the center of his machine and injured his left forearm. He was operated on at the Corporation hospital, and has been undergoing massage treatment since.

A medical report from his doctor was submitted to the effect that he was suffering from the injury to an extent which indicated permanent disability. The question raised was whether or not he was incapacitated for work of all kinds. He is receiving compensation according to the rate of pay he was getting at the time the accident occurred.

The case of Arthur Brown vs. Doherty Brothers, foundrymen, has to do with an injury to the man's left side incurred when he caught his hand in a chain attached to a heavy casting which was being carried by a crane. He alleges he injured his left side in trying to release himself and as a result had to undergo an operation. A recess was called before the testimony had been submitted in full.

Attorney Cornelius J. O'Neill appeared for Brown and Mr. Eaton for the Liberty Assurance Co.

202 names were added to the voting lists. At the Colburn school in Lawrence street ward 4 registered 22 voters and ward 5, a total of 109. At the High street engine house 93 names were added in precincts 1 and 2 of ward 9. This was the final registration for the primaries.

The commissioners have held more sessions this year than ever before and have advertised them well, but still there are some who have just realized that they are not yet registered and wish to do so. The printing of the voting lists and other details which must receive the commission's attention demands a week's time, so much to their regret they are unable to satisfy any more applicants. There is still time, however, for those who voted last year and whose names have been dropped to get on the lists.

The boxes used for the ballots in the various precincts have been sent out to be repaired. At this election it will be necessary to use the large size boxes on account of the size of the ballots. Two sizes, 56 of each, are kept on hand by the commission, and must be placed in condition and properly labeled in preparation for each election.

The ballots for next Tuesday are now being printed, and the commission expected to receive the specimen ballots some time today. The size of the ballot will be about 12 by 20 inches, and will have four pages.

Hours for Primaries
Once more the question of changing the hours for the primaries arises. This question has never resulted, but no action has ever resulted. On this occasion Mayor Perry D. Thompson has consulted City Solicitor Regan relative to the interpretation of the primary law, which states that at a primary election the polls shall be open at noon and shall remain open for eight hours at least.

The contention in the past has been that this law means that the time for opening the polls is set at noon and they cannot be opened at an earlier hour. The mayor, however, feels that the intention is to make noon the latest time at which the polls can be opened, and that an earlier opening is optional. He expects to hear from the city solicitor shortly.

Those who are familiar with polling conditions are experiencing considerable doubt as to the possibility of getting all the votes cast in the large precincts in the time allowed. The ballot at the coming primary will contain about 115 names in each ward, and it will take some time to mark the necessary crosses. Thus many who wish to vote will be delayed on account of lack of accommodations. It was learned at the election commission's office this morning that while in the last two or three years the vote has practically doubled, only four precinct houses have been enlarged, precinct 1 of ward 6, precincts 1 and 2 of ward 8 and precinct 3 of ward 9. This condition makes an extension of the voting hours very desirable.

WHY CAN'T YOU, TOO, BE WELL AND STRONG?

FEW of us realize how precious good health is until we begin to lose it. To be well is to enjoy life and make good times for those around us. To be constantly ailing is to miss life's pleasures and to look with envy upon our robust friends and neighbors.

Are you one of the unfortunates? Is your health slowly slipping away? It's time, then, you looked to your kidneys! Much sickness of today is traceable to kidney weakness. Its increase is alarming. That's because it's usually unseen or neglected.

But it's easy to tell if your kidneys are weak. You may have only backache; a lameness, stiffness, or sharp stabbing pains; dizzy spells, headaches, or annoying bladder irregularities.

"Use Doan's," Say These Lowell Folks:

George A. Dickey, city fireman, 11 Hastings street, says: "I had severe pains in my back and was so sore and stiff I could hardly bend. When I caught cold, the trouble was always worse. The kidney secretions were too free in passage and annoyed me greatly. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they regulated the action of my kidneys, and my back became strong and well." (Statement given May 4, 1917.)

On February 17, 1919, Mrs. Dickey said: "Doan's put my kidneys in a good healthy condition. I have had no return of the trouble."

Mrs. R. Durkin, 31 Lincoln street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in my family for years. When my kidneys were out of order, I had dull backaches and felt dried out, and my kidneys didn't act right at all. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they soon relieved the backaches and other signs of kidney trouble. I have had no return of the complaint."

Lowell Rotary Club Hears
Well Known Rotarian and World Traveler

Ohio Man Believes Militaristic Spirit in Japan is Waning

"I honestly believe that the militaristic spirit in Japan is waning.
Years ago there used to be a waiting list in all of the great Japanese military academies; today there are not pupils enough to fill the schools of war and the Japanese government has just returned from a trip around the globe and who was yesterday afternoon the principal guest and speaker at the weekly meeting of the Lowell Rotary club after dinner at the Boys' club rooms on Dutton street.

Mr. Kelly was introduced as "Ed" and received a royal welcome. His interesting discourse on foreign travel experiences received close attention and lasted nearly an hour. He proved most discerning for an amateur world tourist, and gave the Rotarians some meaty views on problems that American faces today at the disarmament conference.

The attendance was excellent, many Rotarians and guests being drawn to the club rooms early because of the announcement that Everett G. Ingraham, Massachusetts state pool champion for eight years, was to give an exhibition of his skill. He proved a wonder and the Rotarians were delighted with his fancy shots.

The expert gave novel exhibitions, performing the famous horseshot shot, the bridge shot and the "triple kiss combination." He never missed a ball and every ball went into a pocket as if rolled there by an unseen hand. One remarkable play was the sending of six balls into six different pockets.
There was another one-ball shot, called the "Ingraham combination," that mystified the Rotarians and brought applause. The champion afterward played 15 balls, pocketing them all without touching a rail during the run. At 4 o'clock this afternoon he gave the same exhibition at the Y.M.C.A. and tonight at 7:30 he will meet all local champions.

A feature of the meeting this noon was the presentation to the Boys' club of a framed patriotic pledge. It was the work of Professor James A. Shanley of the Lowell high school, who is writing master of the Varnum school.
Two schoolboys of the latter school,
Teddy Wadja and Emanuel Jarek, made the presentation, while the Rotarians cheered.

The following letter was read by Walja:

"The Varnum School to the Lowell
Boys' club:
Greeting: As some of the boys of the Varnum school enjoy the privileges afforded by the Boys' club, the pupils of the school desire to show their appreciation of the work the club is doing. So we ask you to accept this framed 'Pledge of Allegiance' to our beloved country.

"We hope we shall all try to live up to the highest ideals embodied in the words 'with liberty and justice for all.'"

ELIZABETH C. KENNEDY, Principal.

A letter was read from the disabled soldiers at the Grosvenor school, thanking the Lowell Rotarians for entertaining them a short time ago.

An invitation was read from Melrose Rotary club, inviting the Lowell club to attend a celebration in Melrose next Monday night. Wives of the local members are also invited to cooperate in the event.

A letter of resignation from the club was read from Fred C. Church, Sr., and regretfully accepted. Fred C.
Church, Jr., was elected to fill membership.

Harold F. Howe, who has been entertaining Mr. Kelly, was introduced as chairman of the afternoon, and he brought forward the speaker, who was warmly applauded.

The two makers told one of Chaus-cy Depew's stories and then gave a detailed account of his world tour, which began October 13 "on a Friday," and ended May 13, he said. He described conditions in the far east with much detail. He declared immoral conditions in Japan were shocking. Red light districts were in order in many sections, with miles of houses and occupants devoted to immorality.

He did not believe the Japanese want war with America, he said, but declared that 75 per cent. of the export trade from the Orient today is being handled by Japanese in Japanese ships, and that is what they are really working to maintain.

He met many Americans on his trip through the east, and also a few princes and princesses. He said China was America's friend, and predicted in 20 years that China would be in better shape to speak for herself. The only foreign flag he saw anywhere in China was that of the United States, he said.

The mayor of Canton has closed all gambling houses, although the government officials had been offered a bribe amounting to $7,000,000. Mr.
Kelly enjoyed a fine dinner of "waf-les and syrup," he said, while a guest of the American consul at a Chinese port. Conditions in Java, Korea and India were described. American missionaries are doing good work in all these countries. The Japanese, Mr.
Kelly added, were tyrants in Korea, and Americans had to bow to them there.

Northern India is in a state of unrest. He saw a modern dairy in India that was a marvel, although 23 cows of the water buffalo tribe could not produce as much milk as one good American Jersey cow.

"And let me tell you Lowell Rotarians," exclaimed Mr. Kelly in closing, "that it was about the happiest day of my life when I sailed into New York harbor and saw the Statue of Liberty again."

but a limited number of warships.

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 5.—For the past few days, mariners have noticed a serious damage to the foundation of Breakwater Light, between the in-crack in the structure itself. Today it developed that submarine N-4 through jacking of its steering gear, had rammed the big granite blocks tearing some of them out of the wall entirely.

LYNN, Nov. 15.—The suggestion of the Joint Council, United Shoe Workers of America, that all 33 members

Lynn Shoe Manufacturers' association today.

REFUSE TO HELP MOVE SHOE SHOP FROM LYNN

LYNN, Nov. 15.—The Allen Goller, with few workers today.

members of the packing room workers union of the United Shoe Workers of America, who are engaged in the last processes of manufacture, walked out. They quit. Business Agent Harry Witham announced, because they were unwilling to help in the removal of the factory from this city. About 15 workers were involved in the walkout. The company normally employs from 400 to 500 hands.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—A move by republican leaders to get the Ford-Newberry election contest before the senate today for immediate consideration was blocked by the democrats after Senator Pomerene, democrat, Ohio, had declared that he had heard that some republicans planned to "jam" through a resolution declaring Senator Newberry duly elected.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15.—The French line steamship Maryland, 3905 tons, was rammed by the Japanese steamer Fukuyou Maru and sank here today in thirty feet of water at the First street wharf. Bunking of the steering gear of the Japanese vessel is said by dock officials to have caused the accident.

QUINCY CHAMBER FAVORS NAVAL HOLIDAY

QUINCY, Nov. 15.—The chamber of commerce of this shipbuilding city announced today that notwithstanding the blow to its business involved in the proposed naval holiday, it endorsed emphatically the recommendations of the United States government to the armament conference. Both the Fore River plant for battleship and destroyer construction, and the quantity yards and docks for destroyer building of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, are located here. Thousands of men were employed at those places in war time.

REMEMBER THE POOR! Drop Something in the Salva- tion Army Kettle

The appeal of the Salvation Army has been heard by the people of Lowell. It has been heard but not heeded as much as is necessary if the poor of this city are to be fed Thanksgiving day. The Army needs help. A week ago it asked, through the columns of The Sun, for contributions which might go towards defraying expenses of a Thanksgiving dinner for the unfortunate. The following day the results of the appeal were notified in the increase of contributions in the kettles distributed throughout the city for collection purposes.

But then, the busy public forgot. Not intentionally, perhaps, but it forgot. In the rush to do this, that and the other thing the public forgot the poor and needy. Now "The Army" makes another appeal. To those who have not been informed, the Salvation Army is attempting to collect enough money to give about 300 people of Lowell a Thanksgiving dinner. To give this dinner money is necessary. While "The Army" is rich in intention and wealthy in spirit these qualities will not, directly at least, produce potatoes, meat and the like.

Just pause a moment, busy person. If the asking is not too much, and think of the poor. This year, above all others, the poor must be considered. Many are out of work and have little to buy the bare necessities of life. There is hardly a person who sits down to a Thanksgiving spread but who thinks of the poor and the number of persons who will be without a meal. The person thinks with sympathy of his unfortunate brethren. The act is a noble one and inspired by that strain of good, latent sometimes perhaps, that is in every one of us. "The Salles" are giving everyone a chance to help now, so when that selfish person sits down to dinner and thinks of the poor, the thought may be one of pride that he has done his bit to help a worthy cause.

The pluck-faced youngster, the shoeless tot, the wistful child and aye, the creeping public as a rule. But the newspaper man who deals with the highbrow, the lowbrow, the blue and the hot-blooded, all in a day's work, knows their needs and realizes the Salvation Army cannot be helped too much. All these poor need and are entitled to a Thanksgiving dinner. The same as the fat-faced, satisfied man who sits down to eat with an army of servants waiting to jump at the tinkle of a bell.

The "Salles" in charge of the kettles claim the men are not as apt to give as the women. While the women give in numbers, the amounts are not so large as those given by the men. Little children, too, do not forget to

Postmaster Meehan Advises Early Mailing of Municipal Campaign Circulars

Get your municipal circulars into the mails early!

That was Postmaster John P. Meehan's warning to local political workers this morning, and he desired The Sun to make it just as emphatic as possible.

"We would like to have the big bags of political literature on hand before Thursday night if possible," said Mr. Meehan. "Of course we don't expect to receive it all, for many campaign workers are always late and clog up the mails by their tardiness. But all the same, I think if The Sun will only emphasize the fact that the postal employees can handle this political mail much more readily and more promptly if it is posted on or before Thursday night, or Friday morning at the very latest, the deliveries will be completed in proper season to do the mailers the most good."

"We are anxious to prevent any delays and will do our best to attend to deliveries, of course, but jamming the mails with tons of political letters just as the last good sound is going to make it hard to secure prompt distribution."

"Thursday night is the best time to wind up the mailing, but we can handle some of it on Friday. If there isn't too much. Make it strong on Thursday and everybody will be satisfied."

Ignorance No Excuse in Milk Law Violation Cases, Says Court

The protection of public health requires that milk be in conformity to a set standard and whether a law is violated intentionally or unintentionally means nothing in the face of justice. Such was the answer of Judge Enright in district court today, to Homer Bergeron, arrested for possessing milk below standard, who pleaded he did not know the fluid was below requirements. The defendant explained how he receives the milk and disposes of it, saying that the samples found not to comply with the standard were probably inferior to other milk due to neglect in straining. He was fined $10, which he paid. The complainant, who is a inspector of milk, explained to the accused that no defense could be built around the ignorance that might have existed in the possession of the milk, saying that the defendant knew the milk did not measure up to the requirements of the law, the mere fact that the milk was there and it was sold violated the law, was sufficient to necessitate conviction.

here she went to Gloucester City, N. J., where she worked for many years in the Gloucester print works as a sketch maker. After the death of the people with whom she had made many home in Gloucester City, she came to Lowell, to live with relatives.

LAFORETTE—Mrs. Eugene Laforet, nee Florida Lavigne, aged 35 years and 6 months, died this morning at the Lowell City Hospital, after a long illness. She was the wife of Mr. George W. Laforet, a son of Raymond, four daughters, Helen, Simone, Loretta and Lena; a brother, Alexandre Lavigne. The body was moved to the home, 100 North Street, by Undertaker Joseph Albert.

Street Railway Winter Schedule Goes Into Effect Tomorrow Morning

The winter time tables for the Lowell division of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company go into effect tomorrow morning, the revised schedules being issued this morning by Supt. Bowen of the local division.

Only a few changes are made in the new time tables, the fall schedules being considered adequate to meet the demands of Lowell patronage. The changes in some instances are slight as to be hardly noticeable to the average commuter. For instance, the Chelmsford and Chelmsford street cars will leave five minutes earlier than the present time. In this way, they will be during the day, practically a five-minute service in each direction as far as Westford street, thus enabling patrons to catch trains promptly. It will mean better service out in that section of the city, although the so-called "station lines" have always been somewhat better for service than can be found on several other lines.

The first car for Chelmsford Centre on week days leaves Merrimack square at 5:30 a. m. and on Sundays at 7:30. The return from Chelmsford is made beginning at 8:10 a. m. The Chelmsford schedules on Sundays will be one car every 40 minutes. Chelmsford street cars will run every 20 minutes on Sundays after 8:15 a. m.

The North Chelmsford line changes are as follows: Week days except Saturdays, start from Merrimack square at 3:45 a. m., running every 20 minutes to 11:25 p. m. Saturdays, 5:45 a. m., every 20 minutes to 11:05 p. m., and then every 10 minutes to 11:25 p. m. Sundays, 7:15 a. m., and half-hourly to 12:45 p. m., then every 20 minutes to 11:25 p. m.

The Billerica line will have more hours, the schedule reading as follows: Week days except Saturdays, 5:30, 5:55, 6:01, 6:37 and 7:07 a. m., then hourly to 4:07 p. m., then half-hourly to 7:07 p. m., and then hourly to 11:07 p. m. On Saturdays, the first car for Billerica leaves Lowell at 7:07 a. m. and hourly to 11:07. The officials feel that the earlier schedules on the North Chelmsford line will make it better for workmen to catch morning trains.

WANT BETTER CAR SERVICE

Move to Improve Transportation Facilities in Centralville Made Last Night

The car service in the Centralville district was bitterly denounced and steps to bring about more adequate transportation facilities were devised at the meeting of the Centralville Improvement association in the Greenhauge school last evening. President Thomas F. Garvey presided.

The Eastern Massachusetts street railway company was flayed for the neglect that section of the city is subjected to and several speakers presented data and instances on which to base their complaints. One resident of the district termed the car service as absolutely "wretched" and "deplorable," while all present united in one sentiment to band together and lay their grievance before those in power with the ultimate objective of securing suitable transportation facilities.

If need be, the matter will be taken up with the public utilities commission at the state house, another member avowed in expressing his sentiment on the subject and sounded a call for all residents of Centralville to rally to the cause and support what will form into a united movement to provide better car service for the district.

"Lawrence, Chelsea, and many greater Boston communities received better car service after calling on the public utilities commission to remedy deplorable transportation conditions and therefore I think it's about time we wake up and started the same procedure here. We can't get along in this way much longer," one speaker put it.

The association voted to let the improvement committee, of which Dr. M. A. Tighe is chairman, handle the matter, a report to be made at the next meeting, to be held in the Varum school December 6.

The organization unanimously went on record in favor of a new branch postoffice in Centralville, more ade-

URBAN HOMER IN DIFFICULTY

Another New Charge Against Man Wanted by the Providence Police

The Matrimonial Tangle of Mr. Homer Extends Over Two States

Urban A. Homer, central figure in a matrimonial tangle that extends over two states, arraigned in the local court several times before, appeared before Judge Enright again today to answer to a new complaint of non-support filed against him by counsel for a second wife the defendant is alleged to have married illegally. The latter complaint, for neglect of two minor children, is in addition to the original charge of non-support filed nearly two months ago under which Homer was first arraigned. On today's charge Urban was ordered to pay $15 this week and $10 weekly hereafter to the probation officer, and was placed on probation for six months. The more serious charge of being a fugitive from justice was continued to tomorrow at the request of the police, bail being set at $1000.

The trial was preceded by a conference between the judge and counsel for both sides, during which the court stated he would not interfere with Homer being taken to Rhode Island for trial there. The accused is wanted from that city, armed with a warrant for Urban's arrest, coming to Lowell two weeks ago. The charge pending against him in this city will be disposed of first. It was stated then by the police, before he is allowed to be taken to Rhode Island.

It is alleged that Homer married a second time in Providence before a divorce from a Lowell girl had become absolute.

quite and larger than the one that exists there now. President Garvey and Secretary Charles P. Gannon were authorized to interview Postmaster Meehan and obtain his views on a postal improvement in that district. It is impossible to secure efficient mail service under existing conditions. It was generally stated.

The necessity of going to the polls next Tuesday to cast a ballot for men who are deemed capable of efficiency representing the public in office was impressed on the gathering by the chairman and several other members. No particular candidate was mentioned. President Garvey requested each member to consider himself a committee of one and seek out his friends and neighbors and urge them to go to the polls Tuesday.

Plans for a course of lectures to be given through the winter will be made at the next meeting.

CASES IN THE SUPERIOR COURT

Lowell Woman is Granted Divorce on the Grounds of Desertion

School Teacher Sues Greek Orthodox Community to Recover Back Salary

After yesterday's busy session the legal machinery in superior court building eased off a bit today and contented itself with the disposition of cases of minor importance. Judge Burns, in the jury waive session, granted a divorce decree to Susan A. Shepherd of this city from Walter Shepherd, now of Philadelphia. The decree was nisi and granted on the grounds of desertion. The custody of four minor children was granted Mrs. Shepherd.

The couple were married in Lowell, Nov. 26, 1904, and lived here a short while and after moving to several places in the state returned to Tyngsboro. On May 13, 1917, the libellant claims her husband deserted her.

A case which developed considerable interest to the Greek speaking population was brought to trial in the jury session before Judge Bishop. The court room was crowded by Greeks anxious to hear the case. Angelika Pappazoulou is suing the Greek Orthodox community to recover back salary she alleges due her as a teacher in the Greek-American institute of this city. The plaintiff's declaration states she applied for, and was appointed as principal of said school for the years 1919-21, inclusive. Her salary was to be $30 a week, with the exception of vacation periods at which time she was to receive half that amount. The plaintiff alleges she served in capacity as principal of the school in 1919-20 and received her stipulated salary. But that previous to the beginning of the 1920-21 term she was notified that her services were no longer required. The action is one of contract in which the plaintiff seeks to recover money for the unexpired contract.

The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Peter's church, where at 9 o'clock a funeral high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan. The choir sang the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Miss Mary Byrne and Miss O'Donnell. Miss Gertrude O'Leary presided at the organ. There were many floral and spiritual offerings. The bearers were Messrs. Edward F. Flanagan, James H. Grey, Joseph Adams of Danvers, Joseph Desrosiers, Joseph Desrosiers and Joseph Desrosiers. Burial took place in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. E. Heffernan. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

MELLO—The funeral of George S. Mello took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock, from his late home, 209 Charles street, and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Anthony's church where, at 9:30 o'clock, a funeral high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. John Perry. The choir sang the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Mrs. Menno Mooney and Prof. Frederick Bond. Miss Marie O'Donnell presided at the organ. There were a profusion of beautiful floral offerings. The bearers were Messrs. Antonio P. Phares, Manuel Souza, Theresio Machado, Manuel P. Mello, Julio Mendonca and Manuel Corto. Burial took place in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. E. Heffernan. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

LIGHT WIRES OUT OF COMMISSION

Electric Light Corporation Had Some Hard Cases to Deal With

Many Stores and Houses Lighted Temporarily by Lamps and Candles

Working night and day, for the past 72 hours with very little sleep, fifty linemen of the Lowell Electric Light corporation—expert trouble men—early this afternoon won one of the hardest fights against broken and burned-out power and light service lines recorded in 15 years in the local electrical world.

With many stores and houses on Merrimack street, particularly in the city hall section, and also along Middlesex street to the railroad station, compelled to burn kerosene oil and candles and even install gasoline lighting arrangements for many hours—the situation that faced the lighting corporation last night and early today appeared to be a desperate one. This morning, however, with most of the "trouble lines" located and the big cables renewed or spliced for distribution of the needed current, Lowell patrons of the company that provides electric light and power for the city may be said to have gotten out of it "easy."

The last severe rain and sleet storm is blamed by electricians for the damage to the underground cables. Many of the conduits were filled with water and silt.

"It was the worst situation we have had to face in 15 years," said Manager John A. Hunnewell this noon. "I want to tell you that no linemen ever worked any harder than these loyal workmen of this company, who for the past 72 hours and almost without any sleep, have been working to the utmost of their ability to locate the burned out cables and restore lighting and power service to the people of Lowell. It is an achievement to be proud of, and we hope this afternoon to have the work of recovery completed."

Up on Moody street near city hall and down on Merrimack street near the end of Central, and on Middlesex street, where the great trunk lines meet in big conduit junction basins, the workmen were at work all last night and this morning. Several big cables had been burned out, and the work of locating the damaged lines exposed into the big underground channels, was the hardest job of all.

The service was off all day down Middlesex street way, and early last night the trouble-finders got the cables back into place and spliced, and at 7:05 p. m., Middlesex street merchants and house-dwellers had light and power again.

The trouble on Moody and Merrimack streets was harder to locate than the difficulty on Middlesex street. Cables were burned out—but which ones?

It was the toughest job the trouble-finders have been on for a good many years, because of the nature of the trouble. The cables have different usages. The Middlesex street line affected was a power cable as was the one at Merrimack and Central streets. Up near the city hall, the lighting cables were only affected.

The company officials are praising electric light users today for their patience during the troublesome wait for power and light. Mr. Hunnewell took the tie-up very much to heart, and says that nothing has been left undone to give Lowell only the best service at all times, and he believes from now on that the "trouble lines," so-called, will be in the best possible shape for future service.

During the drawing out of the burned cables today, the underground street workmen were compelled to remove hundreds of feet of wires that were made useless by the trouble. New cables were on hand for splicing, however, and the work not delayed.
